Politics for 1932.
New Cotton Plan.
Pity Poor China.
Back Comes the Bustle.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

THE 1932 POLITICAL POT begins to boil, political reporters dreaming dreams and seeing visions.

They discovered that Gov. Roosevelt, of New York, expectant Democratic candidate, would pin in large letters the words "Power Trust" on the coat tails of President Hoover. According to reporters, Gov. Roosevelt means to show that President Hoover is letting power companies have it all their own way in the new development of power on the St. Lawrence.

IT HAPPENS, however, that President Hoover is an engineer and knows what power means to this country.

It means light, employment, machinery, production. It is the backbone, the heart and the lungs of industry.

If he were engaged as engineer of a great industrial concern, Mr. Hoover would say to his board of directors: "Don't let any outsiders or insiders control your power supply. You must CONTROL THAT YOURSELVES."

He is now chief engineer and President of the greatest industrial concern on earth and can be trusted to say to his board of directors, in the Senate and house: "You must control your national power supply. Don't let any insiders or outsiders get hold of that. The people must keep control."

GOV. LONG of Louisiana invites Governors, Lieutenant-Governors and Senators of cotton-producting states to meet in New Orleans on Friday, and discuss SUSPENSION OF ALL COTTON GROWING NEXT YEAR.

Gov. Long says that if nobody in America planted cotton in 1932 our accumulated surplus could be sold at a decent price, and all the world would have plenty.

That plan probably will not be carried out, because farmers must do something with their lands, mules and machinery. But it is better than the Farm Board's suggestion to plow under one-third of cotton already grown.

Gov. Long's suggestion is favorably considered in a front page editorial by the New Orleans States, and the other Ewing newspapers, usually opposed to the Governor.

THOSE THAT LIVE in California in the winter are happy when they read New York or Chicago weather reports. It is strange, but it is human nature.

Perhaps some of us complaining about conditions will find that strange comfort in reading of floods in China. They have driven 30,000,000 Chinese from homes and land, and at least 10,000,000 are made absolutely destitute by the Yangtse River torrents. Imagine all the inhabitants of a dozen of our most important states suddenly driven from their houses and you can imagine China's situation.

IN THE MIDST of all our depression and trouble, the able authority on fashions, Monsieur Tappe, arrived from Paris yesterday predicting that women's evening dresses this fall and winter will include hoop skirts, "and a modified use of the bustle."

Why woman should change the beautiful form given to her in the Garden of Eden for things that make her look like a walrus with a big tumor is not easily understood.

But nature and evolution are undoubtedly working out some wise plan that will be understood thousands of years hence, but not now.

MISS ANITA GREW, young daughter of the United States Minister to Turkey, swam the Bosphorus Straits from the Black Sea to the Sea of Marmora, 19 miles, in five hours yesterday. She swam the straits lengthwise, whereas Leander only swam across once a night to visit the lovely Hero. Miss Grew's father, with two friends, followed in a small boat, giving her hot chocolate from time to time, playing music on a talking machine continuously.

THE LIVELY AIRS of the phonograph doubtless helped as much as the chocolate, which is a nourishing food, excellent stimulant for the muscles.

Kings and chiefs for more than 50 centuries have known that music would make men march, fight and even starve better. That is why armies have military bands.

WE ARE "FEARFULLY and wonderfully made," and should praise the Lord, especially, for our powers of resistance.

United States Public Health Service warns granite cutters and other workers in stone that there must not be more than NINE MILLION SPECKS OF DUST IN EACH CUBIC INCH OF AIR THEY BREATHE.

If the number of dust specks in each cubic inch of air rises as high as 60,000,000 units, workers are in serious danger.

IN A MAJORITY of granite plants, workers breathe air with about 60,000,000 units to the cubic inch, and many die of consumption after 20 years.

It is amazing also how many germs a child's constitution will stand in a cubic inch of milk. But when the germs run into too

Two Atlantic City Swimmers Missing; Wildwood Dancer Lost Also, Wife Rescued

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 19. (AP.) One man was drowned, two others were reported missing, and more than 50 bathers were rescued today when waves nearly 15 feet high rolled in from the sea, sweeping bathers off their feet.

The dead man, whose body was recovered by life guards, is as yet unidentified.

One of the missing persons is Eugene Baeurle, 17, a guest at the Knickerbocker Hotel.

The identity of the other has not been determined.

WILDWOOD, N. J., Aug. 19. (INS.)—A rollicking marathon dance contest was transformed into tragedy today when John Birch, 28, of Columbus, O., was drowned and his wife, Helen, 24, and John Passo, 26, all entrants in the contest, were rescued.

The couples had jigged to the surf. A strong undertow suddenly swept them into deep water.

Birch and his wife entered the contest on June 23 and had been in motion continuously—45 minutes of dancing and 15 minutes of rest. Contestants were permitted to bathe once every 48 hours provided they kept in motion.

Unaware her husband had been drowned, Mrs. Birch pleaded to be allowed to re-enter the contest.

She said:

"Please let me go, John and I need the money to buy a home and start housekeeping. He'll be heartbroken if I quit on him now."

The tragedy cast gloom over other contestants, but they continued the grind.

Armstrong Indorses Six Candidates

County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong, speaking at a Republican rally in the Greentree municipal building last night, indorsed the candidacies of:

S. J. Topley for re-election as Clerk of Courts.

Joseph N. Mackrell for re-election as Register of Wills.

John D. Vogt for Prothonotary.

Robert G. Woodside for re-election as County Controller.

Samuel D. Foster for re-election as Recorder of Deeds.

Andrew T. Park for District Attorney.

Mackrell, Topley and Vogt are on the "Independent" ticket; Woodside, Foster and Park are "Regular" Republican Organization" men.

Mrs. Gann Delays Greensburg Visit

GREENSBURG, Pa., Aug. 19.—The expected visit of Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, of Washington, sister of Vice President Curtis and his official hostess, and other Washington women, was postponed today due to the illness of Mrs. Adam M. Wyant, wife of Congressman Wyant, who was to have been hostess to the party over the week-end.

JUDGES FACING PARTISAN FIGHT

By MARK SHIELDS

Insisting that they will keep their campaign clean from petty politics and personalities, the seven sitting judges asking election to Common Pleas Court face the prospect of a battle colored by partisanship and factionalism, the fortunes of some directly linked with the intensely bitter fight being waged among the candidates for County Commissioner.

If the rift at present existing between County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong and Senator James J. Coyne continues through the campaign, some of the judges will be drawn into the controversy, making impossible the perpetuation of a "slate" campaign of "all for one and one for all." To this contingency must be added the criticism already being leveled at the judges for endeavoring to give each other certificates of superior character, ability and fitness.

POLITICAL LINKS

As an example of the reaction to this criticism was the statement last week of Judge Joseph D. Stadtfeld that each judge must be estimated individually on the basis of his own work and record, a principle upon which Judge Stadtfeld seemed glad to submit his own candidacy.

It is well known that the six ap-

Tires Stolen, Traffic Officer Suspended

Lieut. Robert Buel, of the Traffic Division, was suspended by Director James M. Clark, of the Department of Public Safety, today pending investigation into his possession of two automobile tires, which, police say, were stolen. An investigation is to be made by Assistant Supt. of Police Benjamin R. Marshall. Buel told Clark he had purchased the tires for $15, and when he learned that they had been stolen paid the company from which they were taken.

Vote Padding Charge Strikes 1,095 Names From 22d Ward List

'Phantoms' Added to Rolls by Fraud Says Schad.

C. J. McBride, secretary of the County Tax Board, today struck 1,095 names from the assessment lists of the Twenty-second Ward.

The names, according to George J. Schad, chairman of the board, were added to the lists illegally "sometime Saturday night or Sunday" and would have more than doubled the number of voters in the affected ward.

FOUND BY COYNE FOE

The added names were discovered by Constable Edward Ross, Twenty-second Ward lieutenant of County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong, rival of Coyne for a commission seat.

John J. O'Donnell, chairman of the ward, said he believed many of the names stricken off were those of valid voters and told Chairman Schad, with whom he conferred today, that he would start an immediate investigation. If he finds this to be true, he said, immediate steps would be taken to have the names restored.

ASSESSORS AT WORK

Shad said that the books which had been tampered with had been in the County Treasurer's office since June 1, part of the tax office records upon which four assessors had been working.

County Treasurer John Francies denied that anyone could have had access to the books Saturday night or Sunday and said the names must have been placed there during the week.

O'Donnell later in the day said that if the names had been illegally added to the lists, it probably was the work of over-zealous supporters of Constable Ross, who is waging a spirited fight for re-election against Daniel McGeary, a Rooney candidate.

Political observers replied to this theory with the remark that supporters of constable candidates rarely become so zealous as to attempt the addition of 1,000 illegal names.

RUM VICTIM'S MOTHER HELD

Vigorously denying she had violated the prohibition laws, Mrs. Theresa Marhefka, 35, confectionery store proprietress at 521 Carson street, whose 12-year-old daughter, Theresa, was found unconscious from the effects of moonshine, was held for court by Magistrate Thomas D. Jones in Mt. Washington Police Court today.

Mrs. Marhefka declared the wine and moonshine which police reported finding in her store belonged to her two boarders. She was charged with violating the Snyder act. Bond was fixed at $1,000.

The girl, taken to South Side Hospital, was reported recovering. She had been left in the store by her mother. During the latter's absence, police said, the girl and an unidentified youth began drinking moonshine. A few minutes later she was found unconscious by police. Her companion had disappeared.

Police testified Mrs. Marhefka has been arrested several times for violating liquor laws.

In holding her for court, Magistrate Jones said:

"You shouldn't leave a 12-year-old child around where there's 'dynamite.'"

Five More Voting Machines Received

LAW ON POSTERS STILL DEFIED

While illegally placed political signs were being obliterated in some places today, undaunted candidates continue posting bigger and better banners and placards at vantage points in city and county, some on public property. Other developments in the poster war were:

1—Police arrested two suspects in the First Ward sign battle which claimed a son of Police Supt. Walsh as a casualty.

2—Attorney H. H. Negley, candidate for Common Pleas Court Judge declared sitting Judges in their campaign have violated the poster law 100,000 times.

3—Mrs. J. G. Pontefract, Edgeworth social leader, continued her drive to clear the Ohio River boulevard of candidates' signs.

5—Along with erection of Armstrong banners on the Wabash Bridge, and other places County Commissioner J. G. Armstrong announced that all posters including his own, on county roads, must come down.

Police arrested two men early today in the First Ward poster battle which resulted in Tom Walsh, son of Police Supt. Peter P. Walsh, being attacked and his nose broken, Sunday.

TWO MEN HELD

James Kelly, 28, of 412 Rochelle street, and Jerome King, 29, of 529 Boulevard of the Allies, were apprehended in Fifth avenue and were arraigned before Magistrate Leo Rothenberg in Center Avenue Police Station, charged with being

LINDYS' PLANE DOWN AT SEA

NEMURO, Japan, Aug. 19.—(AP.)—Twice forced down in attempting to fly the 897 miles from Petropavlovsk, Kamchatka, to Nemuro, Col. and Mrs. Charles A. They landed on the lee side of Ketoi Island at 4:45 p. m., Tokio time (3:45 a. m. Pittsburgh time) today, after flying over the central portion of the Kurile Island chain trying to avoid a big fog bank which suddenly loomed ahead of them after they had flown a little more than half way to Nemuro.

URGES U. S. RELIEF FOR JOBLESS

Government Must Act to Prevent Suffering This Winter, Governor Says

HARRISBURG, Aug. 19.—Gov. Gifford Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, today urged President Hoover to call a special session of Congress to provide federal help for the unemployed. Copies of the letter to the President, in which Gov. Pinchot outlined his stand, were made public here.

The letter to the President was accompanied by a report on conditions as they now exist in Pennsylvania. The Governor wrote:

"A situation like this, in a state like Pennsylvania, leads many to believe that the present emergency is as vital to the people as the great war."

RELIEF ABROAD

The Pennsylvania executive reminded the President that the latter had asked for Congressional appropriations "for the relief of the needy in distant parts of the world, and, having obtained them, had supervised their expenditure. He continued:

"It would seem to be most appropriate that you should do no less for our own needy here at home."

The Governor's report on conditions in Pennsylvania placed the number of unemployed at more than 900,000, nearly one-quarter of the whole working population. He asserted that wages are decreasing, distress in many counties is acute and that many children are suffering from starvation.

In face of the present situation, the Governor maintained that Pennsylvania is "by no means lying down." He then outlined what the state and its people are doing to relieve the existing conditions. He cited increases in mothers' assistance funds by state appropriations, large grants to the hospitals and a road program which is employing 19,000 men.

SEES THOUSANDS HUNGRY

Nevertheless, the Governor believes that unless the federal government gives direct aid "hundreds of thousands will go hungry next winter."

The Governor explained he had "taken the liberty of making this letter public" because "this question is of grave consequence to millions of our people."

The Governor's letter to the President was regarded as a certain indication that the former hopes to keep in the national political spotlight until the Republican National Convention next year. In a recent speech at Detroit, Gov. Pinchot advocated federal aid for the unemployed.

NO EXTRA SESSION

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—(INS.)—There will be no special session of Congress to deal with federal unemployment or for any other purpose, it was stated at the White House today after receipt had been acknowledged of a letter from Gov. Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, requesting the President to call one.

The White House did not indicate when a reply would be sent to Gov. Pinchot.

De Valera's Sons Win Scholarships

DUBLIN, Aug. 19.—(AP.)—The sons of De Valera, Republican leader, excel in science and languages. Vivian has won a science scholarship at the National University. Another son has taken prizes for German and Brian has taken a prize for experimental science.

Gang Shots Killing 2 Peril Women and Children

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—(AP.)—Two men, described by police as bootleggers, were ambushed on Mott street, on the lower East Side, after midnight today and shot to death by three gunmen.

Women and children sitting on the door stoops scattered as the three opened fire on the pair.

The dead men were identified from fingerprints as Joseph Cigno, 21, and Anthony Justiano, 25. Both had police records. They were arrested in Buffalo in May for border rum-running.

Police Marksmen Dress Up For Contest—and How!

Last year the Pittsburgh police pistol team won the Eastern Ohio-Western Pennsylvania championship with nothing but revolvers when everybody else had nice, bright uniforms.

But this year when they leave for Camp Perry, O., where the meet is held, they will do so in style.

Their raiment will include tan riding boots, cream whipcord breeches, black silk shirt sewed with gold thread, gold buttons on the collar points and down the front, golden "jazzbo" ties and cream sombreros.

Each shirt has the shield of the city of Pittsburgh woven in yellow on the left shoulder.

Somebody paid $100 each for the layouts.

Friday afternoon, just before they leave, the team will dress up in the new regalia and go to the City-County Building to frighten Mayor Kline, Director of Public Safety Clark and Superintendent of Police Walsh.

M'DONALD TO CALL WORLD CONFERENCE ON WAR DEBTS

MOVE FOLLOWS BANKER STAND FOR REVISION

Washington Not Surprised At Development; Tariff Also to Be Discussed

International News Service.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—As a result of the report of the International Banking Committee at Basle, Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald is expected shortly to summon an international conference to discuss the entire question of war debts and reparations, it was reported here today.

The Basle committee also is reported to have considered the problem of the U. S. tariff policy in relation to international debts.

BANKERS URGE REVISION

BASLE, Switzerland, Aug. 19 (INS).—Banking experts of Germany, France and several other European countries, at the urgent request of the International Banking Committee, today made public their findings.

The committee, which is headed by Albert H. Wiggin, New York banker, recommended that bankers of the world lend money to Germany to extend short term credits amounting to about $1,200,000,000 now outstanding, for six months.

WORLD NEED STRESSED

It was stressed that Germany's obligations to private foreign creditors, amounting to about $750,000,000, [illegible] prevent a flight of capital from Germany, the [illegible] of the committee said.

"We therefore conclude by urging most earnestly upon all governments concerned that they lose no time in taking necessary measures for bringing about such conditions as will allow financial operations to bring to Germany and thereby to the world sorely needed assistance."

The committee also agreed that the Reichsbank should restore balances of foreign banks on a graduated scale, instead of a time [illegible] basis, thereby avoiding a deadlock.

CAPITAL NOT SURPRISED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (INS).—The report of the Basle Committee of International Bankers recommending immediate revision of Germany's reparations payments, occasioned little surprise in Washington, it had been expected.

In the main official opinion here coincides with the verdict of the bankers—that no appreciable German recovery is possible until European political quarrels are adjusted and reparations are put upon a more moderate and sane basis.

How this is to be accomplished, however, without dragging into the situation the inter-allied war debts to the United States is a matter upon which administration officials chose to preserve silence today. The Basle committee did not specifically mention the allied war debts but the implication was very plain that it considered these should be scaled down. Of course, revision means revision downward.

Independent Named Sheriff of Phila.

HARRISBURG, Aug. 19 (AP).—Appointment of William J. Hamilton, '28 as sheriff of Philadelphia was announced today by Gov. Pinchot. The Governor said:

"He is exactly the type of young Republican to whom the City of Philadelphia should turn to rescue it from the misrule that has made it bankrupt."

Hamilton is an independent prominent in church and welfare work. He succeeds the late Tom Cunningham, Penrose and Vare leader.

many millions they make possible. Simple reforms prevent cutters and protects milk drinkers.

CHINA'S NATIONALIST government would give to the people of our Farm Board's 250,000,000 bushels of wheat bought to stabilize prices. China would like to pay for the wheat a long time from now, and the hungry, unfortunate millions of China's people would thank their government when the long time ends.

When the time for payment comes, how does China propose to get the wheat? Why, by selling to Russian government bonds. Communism profits from those that succeed. We don't believe it.

"We therefore conclude by urging most earnestly upon all governments concerned that they lose no time in taking necessary measures for bringing about such conditions as will allow financial operations to bring to Germany and thereby to the world sorely needed assistance."

The committee also agreed that the Reichsbank should restore balances of foreign banks on a graduated scale, instead of a time [illegible] basis, thereby avoiding a deadlock.

Son Killed, Father Dies Soon Afterward

Half an hour after the body of his son, killed in an automobile accident in Detroit, arrived at the home of John M. Munz, 62, of 1526 Grandview avenue, North Side, Monday, the elder Munz was stricken with pneumonia and died less than six hours later.

The son, John M. Munz, Jr., 27, and another, Mrs. Mathilda Ruffle, and Edward Karney, 43, both formerly Pittsburghers, were killed instantly when the steering apparatus of their automobile failed to function Saturday. Karney was a former resident of Turtle Creek.

The death of the elder Munz was attributed to heart trouble in connection with his weakened condition caused by bronchial pneumonia, it was said.

The survivors are the widow and four children, Herbert and William Munz, Mrs. C. G. Howells and Mrs. Edward Sauer, all of Pittsburgh.

suspicion persons. Both were held over.

Kelly and King are supporters of Constable Jack Schneider, of the First Ward, who is seeking re-election. His chief opponent is Paul Walsh, another son of the police head. Ben Zeck sought by police in the alleged attack on Tom Walsh has not been apprehended.

Patrolman Albert Best testified today that he had seen Zeck in an automobile on Fifth avenue early Monday. King also was in the car, he said. The officer testified that in a scuffle he chased the Zeck machine downtown and back to the Hill District, firing several shots, but was unable to overtake the fleeing auto.

King denied being in Zeck's car. He and Kelly were unable to give a good account of themselves, police said.

ARMSTRONG BANNERS

Two large Armstrong posters were placed by workmen today on the Wabash bridge spanning Water street.

Ranking officials of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railroad, which recently agreed to sell the bridge and tunnel to the county, said they did not know whether permission had been given Armstrong to have the signs placed there. H. W. Nethken, president, was out of town.

Regarding the placing of posters, Commissioner Armstrong said:

"Overzealous enthusiasts and foolish kids are responsible for posting political signs. On the county roads where signs are illegally posted I will see to it that those of my own and other candidates will come down."

JUDGES SCORED

A 10-foot cloth banner was hung on the posts of the Bigelow boulevard safety island at the Bloomfield Bridge.

The poster battle drew fire today from Attorney H. H. Sealey, seeking nomination as Judge of Common Pleas Court No. 1, who declared that the seven sitting judges have brought the law into open there by illegal poster advertising. He said:

"They have deliberately broken and flouted the law by having pasted on public and private property over 100,000 pieces of unlawful advertising and thus have ignored their high station and its attendant responsibilities and have shown a contempt and disregard for the law dangerous in its effect and disloyal to the best interests of our country.

"When judicial candidates stoop to such illegal steps in their efforts for office, can we expect from them a just fair and prompt administration of justice?"

Meanwhile city workmen under orders from Director Edward G. Lang of the Department of Public Works, continued removing signs posted and painted upon city property.

Howard Neeley, chief clerk in the Highways and Sewers Bureau, explained that there had been some delay in effacing painted signs because of lack of suitable paint.

Mrs. Pontefract Continues War Against Posters

Mrs. J. G. Pontefract, Edgeworth society woman who for 10 years has waged a fight against posters and signs in public places, declared today that she would continue her crusade against political or trade posters. She said:

"I carry a copy of the law which prohibits tacking signs on public places or phone poles. The politicians object when I have torn down or demand that their signs be torn down, but they can't do anything. I have the law on my side."

Past her three-score and ten, apparently she takes a vigorous and particular pride in the new Ohio River boulevard. She said:

"Just after the boulevard was constructed, two private concerns put up large signs on their properties. Of course, that's not against the law, but I wrote them and suggested that with their example hundreds of other signs would soon be erected. They quickly took them down. Just recently I have written the judges, and also the burgesses of every community along the boulevard. Some sent me courteous replies, telling me they intended keeping posters and signs off the boulevard.

"If a number help, the place can be kept beautiful, for it is a beautiful drive."

Mrs. Pontefract and her chauffeur and other employes on her estate, over last week-end tore down or painted over some of the political signs along the boulevard.

HOOVER SILENT IN ROOSEVELT DISPUTE

'No Comment to Make' on St. Lawrence Waterway Controversy, Aide Says

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—White House attaches adopted a policy of tight-lipped silence today with respect to the controversy inspired by President Hoover's failure to answer a letter from Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Dem., New York, concerning St. Lawrence waterway negotiations.

Theodore G. Joslin, the secretary in charge of press liaison when questioned about various possible developments said:

"There is no comment to make of any nature."

SILENCE MAINTAINED

This attitude was maintained in the face of dispatches from Albany indicating that Roosevelt regarded a communication from Acting Secretary of State Castle which began, "Dear Frank," as personal and unofficial and not constituting a reply to his letter to the President. Also there was "no comment" on widely printed articles by political writers interpreting Mr. Hoover's failure to reply as a "snub" to Roosevelt in view of his possible ascendancy to the Democratic presidential nomination next year.

LETTER MADE PUBLIC

Gov. Roosevelt meanwhile had made public his letter to the President. It had enclosed a note from Frank P. Walsh, chairman of the New York state power authority, stating it was understood the American and Canadian governments were negotiating to appoint a commission to handle the waterway project, and suggesting that New York's special interest entitled her to representation thereon. This letter and enclosure was the one the White House denied for almost a week had been received, and which Castle finally answered, saying no negotiations were under way.

The White House consistently has declined to discuss the St. Lawrence waterway negotiations with the press.

Roosevelt and Tammany Breach Widens

Roosevelt, outstanding candidate for the Democratic nomination for President, was determined today, his friends reported, to reject Tammany Hall's request for a sweeping investigation of upstate Republican cities.

This determination to disregard the counsel of Tammany was evident today when a report was circulated through the capitol that John F. Curry, leader of Tammany Hall, planned to get in touch with the Governor later this week and make a final effort to induce the executive to follow one of the alternate proposals suggested by Tammany in regard to the special session of the Legislature for next week.

Winner of the 1928 National Air Derby for Women, and Pittsburgh's Representative in the 1931 Cross Country Derby.

DOUGLAS, Ariz., Aug. 19.—This is my farewell to air racing. I have responsibilities in the form of a baby and my husband, and the risks of racing are too great.

Winging my way from Roswell and El Paso yesterday, a long, tiresome flight of nine and a half hours, my mind went back to Little Bill, and when I came in sight of Douglas I resolved to quit racing forever. My husband will be glad of this, for he doesn't like me to race, knowing the hazards it entails.

TO FLY FOR PLEASURE

So from now on I shall confine my flights to pleasure jaunts—but I hope to have plenty of that sort of recreation. I couldn't abandon flying altogether. Planes are life to me.

I love the thrill of racing, with its keen competition and matching of skill and wits, but I love my family more, and herrafter will be on the sidelines cheering.

LOST OVER WILDS

It's a nasty hop from Roswell to Douglas, a barren country with miles and miles of wasteland, with no place to go if there's motor trouble, and nobody within 50 or 100 miles, and no checking points for one's course.

Blanche Noyes wiped off her landing gear here Monday and took off yesterday morning. In my flight over I became lost twice.

I hope to make Santa Monica tonight.

Men, Women on Even Terms in Air Race

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Aug. 19—(AP)—Men and women airplane pilots meet on equal terms here as they gather for the start next Sunday from Cleveland Field of the National Air Derby to Cleveland, O.

Engine power, not sex, governs the conditions of the flight. A husband and wife will compete, James Granger taking off in a Butler-Blackhawk and his wife, Clema, flying a Swallow. Ruth Stewart, of Kansas City, planned to take her mother as passenger.

U. S. FIGHTERS JOIN REBELS IN CUBA

Forces from America and Europe Landed by 5 Ships; A.E.F. Hero Leads Troops

By CHARLES C. CANNY
International News Service.

HAVANA, Aug. 19.—Reports that rebel expeditionary forces had landed in Oriente Province from the United States stirred Havana citizens to intense excitement today.

News of the landing of rebel reinforcements reached Havana through the strict censorship enforced by the Cuban government and led many to believe that President Machado was not sailing so smoothly as his communiques had indicated.

The president was reported still in Santa Clara province, where it was rumored that government forces had lost 180 men in an engagement with rebel troops.

Shortly after the government's announcement that Dr. Aurello Hevia, reputed successor to Gen. Menocal as leader of the insurrection, had been captured at Colon, rumors began to leak in via the grape vine route that Carlos Hevia, son of the doctor, had landed an expeditionary force on the east coast from two schooners.

These rumors were confirmed today by an unimpeachable source and caused rebel sympathizers to take on renewed courage.

SKIRMISHES CONTINUE

The expedition was said to have landed at Jibara, Oriente, with seven machine guns and 8,000,000 rounds of ammunition. One of the schooners flew the German flag and the other the Norwegian. Among the rebels landing were said to have been a number of American Negroes.

The expedition was believed here to be the same which ran afoul of the United States Coast Guard off the New Jersey coast two weeks ago.

Among rebels who have surrendered was William Fischer, American-born Cuban citizen, alleged to have destroyed property worth $15,000 belonging to a brother of President Machado.

Rebels Plan Great Drive Under U. S. Army Officer

NEW YORK, Aug. 19—(AP)—A representative of the Cuban junta in New York said today that three expeditions from Europe had landed in various ports of Cuba and were ready to start a great drive.

They are commanded by a former lieutenant colonel of the United States Army, who has already been designated as chief of staff of the revolutionary forces.

This army man has been a soldier since he was 18. He is now 39 years old, a holder of several meritorious service awards and is one of the brilliant artillery officers who commanded units in France during the World War. He has also seen service in China.

The junta said his name would be made public as soon as word is received from Cuba of certain action.

LINDYS' PLANE DOWN AT SEA

fog bank to Muroton Bay, Shimushiru Island and finally came down through a hole in fog 15 miles distant at Ketoi.

There they faced the problem of spending the night afloat on the strong ocean currents which even sturdy ships approach with caution, or the alternative of attempting to reach shore and camping on a strip of land to which only the hairy ainu, a primitive race of hunters and fishermen, lay claim.

PLAN EARLY START

Late tonight the Ochiishi station said the Lindberghs were planning to start for Nemuro early tomorrow, weather permitting. If the fog continues in the region of Shimushiru, the fliers will endeavor to reach Muroton Bay and await clearing weather there.

Two ships, the Kokusai Maru and the Shimushiru Maru, were notified of the plane's position and were steaming in that direction, although neither of them will be able to reach Ketoi before late Thursday morning.

Lloyd George Better, Will Rest on Farm

LONDON, Aug. 19—(AP)—David Lloyd George, who recently underwent an operation, has sufficiently recovered to arrange to go next week from his London home to his country house at Churt, in the Surrey Hills.

There on his model farm, the former prime minister will recuperate until he is able to visit his old home in Wales.

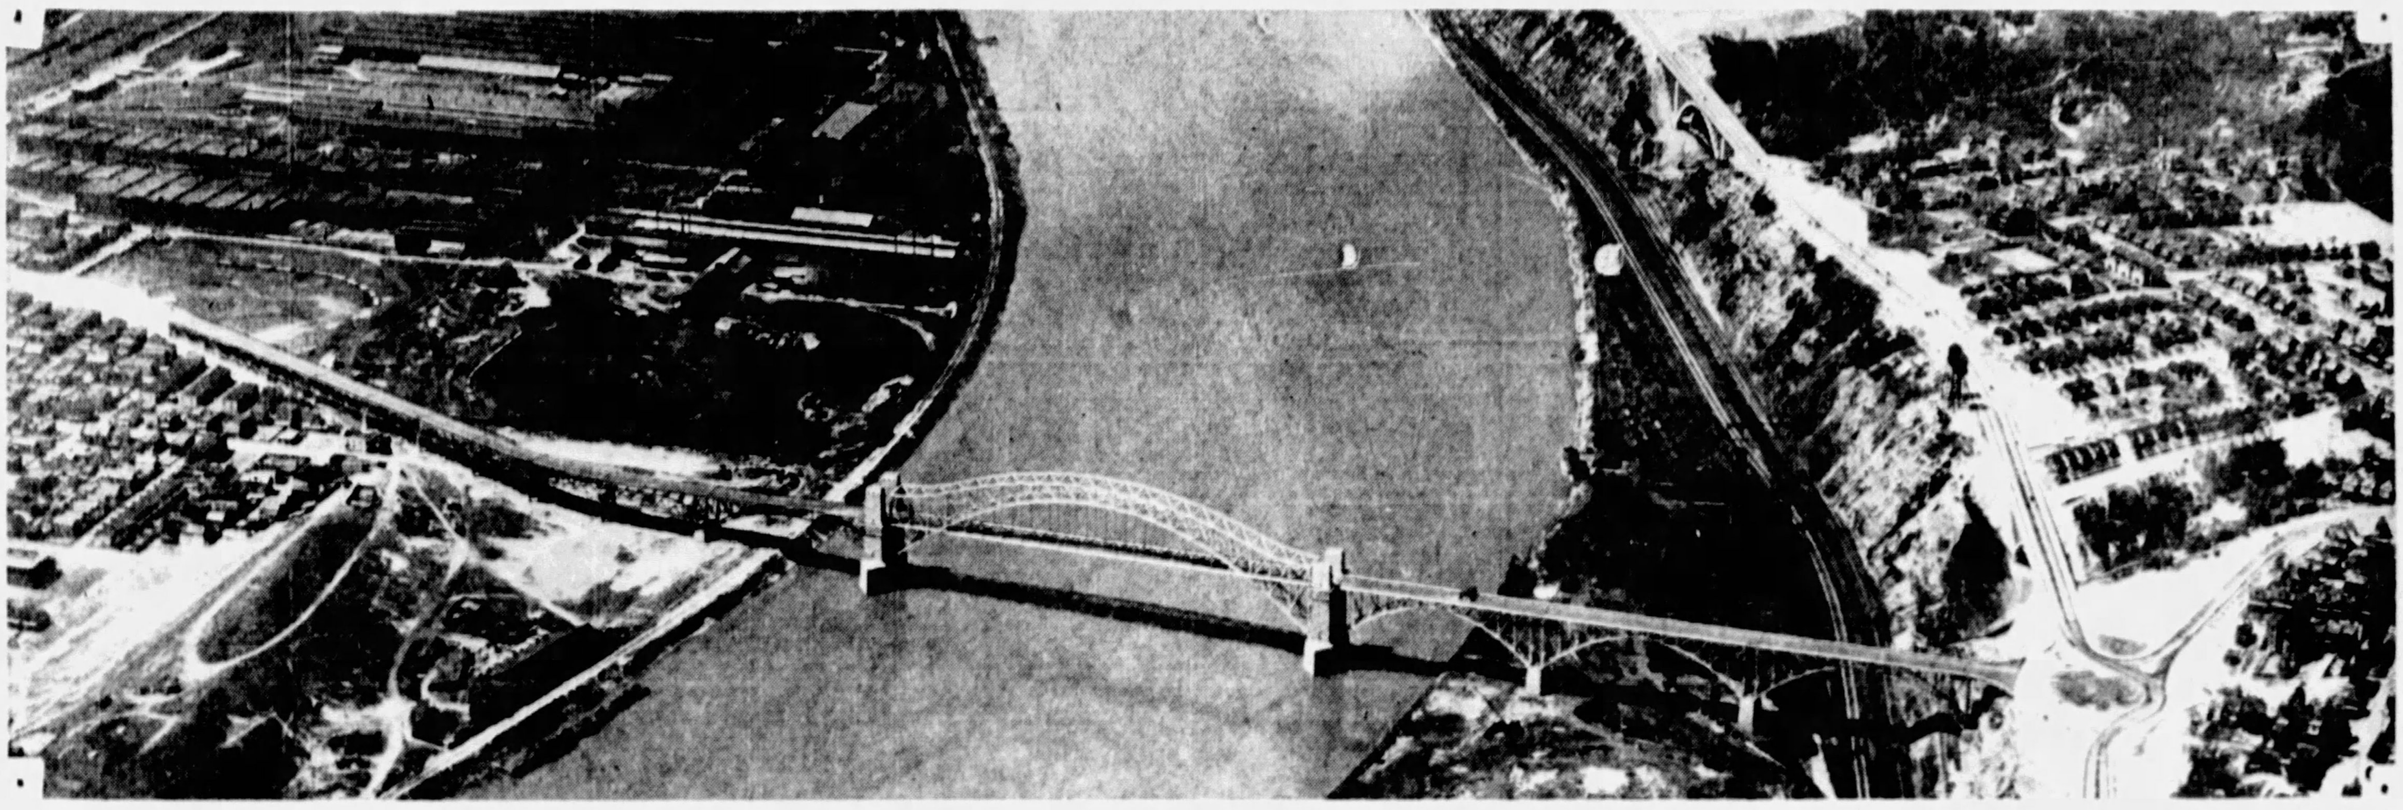
Vet Spends Bonus for Arms To Aid Red Mine War

HARLAN, Ky., Aug. 19—(AP)—William M. Gibbs, unemployed coal miner who said he would prefer Russia to the Harlan County coal fields and was proud of being a member of the Communist party, was in jail here today awaiting grand jury action on a charge of criminal syndicalism.

He was arrested in one of a series of raids conducted by Sheriff J. H. Blair since Circuit Court opened Monday to take up murder indictments against 31 men and scores of lesser charges against others growing out of a long drawn out labor controversy.

Gibbs, who said he was 35 years old and a World War veteran, said he had used his soldiers' bonus check to buy arms and ammunition found when he was arrested at his home. Sheriff Blair's deputies brought into court several rifles, about 1,000 rounds of ammunition, and a Communist party card made out in Gibbs' name.

AN AIRPLANE'S LOOK AT THE NEW M'KEES ROCKS BRIDGE



THE NEW M'KEES ROCKS BRIDGE, ITS LONG RAMP AND ITS TRAFFIC CIRCLE CONNECTION WITH THE COMPLETED OHIO RIVER BOULEVARD, BOTH DEDICATED TODAY BY CIVIC LEADERS FROM THE COUNTY, MANY BOROUGHS AND TOWNSHIPS

THOUSANDS SEE NEW BRIDGE DEDICATED

Long Auto Parade Features Opening of Span Linking North Side, M'Kees Rocks

Hundreds of automobiles paraded across the new McKees Rocks Bridge this afternoon, swung through neighborning communities and onto the bridge again, dedicating completion of this vital link in the $12,000,000 Ohio River boulevard project.

Crowds lined the route of the parade as the structure joining West End communities and the North Side was formally opened.

MUSIC BY 10 BANDS

Dr. Joseph G. Steedle, McKees Rocks legislator, was chief marshal of the parade which formed in two sections, one in McKees Rocks and the other at the traffic circle at the north end of the bridge. Ten bands blared music as the motorcade moved along its course.

C. A. Neuhart, 72, of 3415 McClure avenue, rode in one of the first cars. He was realizing a 28-year ambition, for it was Neuhart who started a movement to have a bridge built here soon after a capsizing ferry claimed the lives of 30 of its 36 passengers in May, 1909.

THOUSANDS SEE PARADE

The route led from the north end of the bridge across to the Island avenue traffic circle where the second division joined with the first and recrossed to the California avenue underpass, then out the boulevard to Dickson avenue, Ben Avon; from there via Woodland street, Floral avenue, Brighton road and Riland avenue, Emsworth, back to the boulevard, and then back to the reviewing stand at the bridge.

The constant threat of rain only slightly decreased the crowds along the parade route and in the procession itself.

Members of civic organizations and hundreds of citizens who have worked for years to have the crossing built swelled the number to several thousands.

Captors of Burke, Broke, Seek Reward

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., Aug. 19 (AP).—The City Commission has taken under advisement until next week a plea that a $1,000 reward for the capture of Fred (Killer) Burke be paid to the two Missouri men chiefly instrumental in his apprehension.

A letter received from James Borden, who said he is employed by Joe Hunsacker and A. B. Morrison, the Missourians who brought about the capture near St. Joseph, Mo., last spring, said the two men are without work and penniless.

BRIDE TO JOIN HUSBAND

Tears gave way to smiles today at the home of pretty Evelyn Grace Cutnell, 18, of River road, Whitaker, as she anticipated the first of her three weekly visits with her husband, Mike Czaplinski, of Homestead, from whom she was separated by her parents.

Pending a further hearing in the legal battle started by the girl's parents to annul the marriage, Judge James H. Gray authorized the weekly visits. They have been married a week.

WILKINS BEGINS LAST LEG OF POLAR TRIP

Sub Nautilus Prepared For Scientific Search Beneath Arctic Ice

By CAPT. SIR HUBERT WILKINS
Commander of the Wilkins-Ellsworth Trans-Arctic Submarine Expedition.
By Radio via American Radio News Corporation and Radiomarine Corporation.

ABOARD THE SUBMARINE NAUTILUS, by Radio to Bergen, Norway, Aug. 19.—To rousing cheers from the hospitable Longyear City miners, we left Advent Bay for a cruise in Arctic waters.

Now our only anxiety lies in what is ahead of us. We have done everything that is possible to prepare the equipment.

The superstructure chambers are cleared for action. The batteries of air tanks are tightly crammed into place and we are eagerly awaiting our chance to try our skill with the ice lord, Boreas.

Within a week our fate will be known. We are on our way.

MILDRED HARRIS FACES QUIZ IN SHIP MYSTERY

Rich Japanese Lost, Ex-Wife Of Chaplin Called; 'Alfalfa Bill's' Son in Fatal Party

International News Service.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—The name of Mildred Harris, former wife of Charlie Chaplin, today was drawn into the case of Hisashi Fujimura, wealthy Japanese importer, who disappeared mysteriously during a cruise on the liner Belgenland.

The Federal Government today planned to determine if it had jurisdiction in investigating the case and whether a crime had been committed.

SHOW GIRL TALKS

Assistant United States Attorney J. Edward Lumbard began an investigation and said he would question Miss Harris and Mary Reisner, pretty show girl who were on the liner.

Miss Reisner was traveling with Fujimura as governess to his young daughter when the importer was shoved, fell or jumped from the liner.

Miss Reisner named Mildred Harris as her companion at a shipboard party during the hours in which Fujimura disappeared.

She told how Fujimura retired to his cabin early Friday morning. She said:

"We were sitting on the deck. We stayed there until about 1 a. m. Then he said he was going to bed and left me. That was the last I saw of him."

JAPAN ASKS PROBE

The show girl added that after Fujimura left her she joined a party given by Mildred Harris and did not retire to her own cabin until 4 a. m. The cabin of Miss Reisner adjoined that of Fujimura.

The show girl governess said that a man aboard the liner was designated as "an enemy" by Fujimura and that the importer had asked her not to leave him alone.

The Japanese consul here formally requested an investigation by federal authorities.

Gov. Murray's Son Named In Fatal Party on Ship

NEW YORK, Aug. 19 (INS).—Three men, one of them the son of Gov. William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray, of Oklahoma, according to United States District Attorney Howard W. Ameli, were at a party in the stateroom of Joseph Apud just before Apud was shot to death aboard the Munson liner Southern Cross.

Ameli announced today that he is investigating the death of Apud who was an assistant purser of the liner. Department of Justice operatives have been assigned to the case. Apud, 28, was reported to have committed suicide early Monday morning by ship officials when the liner docked late yesterday.

YATES SHOOTING LINKS 2 MORE LEADERS

Time Nears for Girl to Make Good Threat She'll 'Tell All' About Parties

International News Service.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Two other prominent New Jersey men may be drawn today into the scandal arising from the shooting of State Senator Roy T. Yates as a result of the threat hurled by his sweetheart, the beautiful Ruth Jayne Cranmer.

She announced firmly after she had been clapped into the Harlem jail on a charge of firing the bullet into Yates' abdomen:

"I'll give them just 24 hours. Either they will come forward and take care of me, or I'm going to tell my story."

At 3 p. m. yesterday the girl issued her threat. At 3 p. m. today the time limit of her ultimatum will have expired.

LIPS SEALED

Her lips remain tightly sealed, pending that hour. But a small whirlwind of reports are in circulation as to what new light she may shed on the shooting which climaxed a wild party in her apartment last Friday.

Yates is said to have brought two of his colleagues high in New Jersey social and political life, to join in the gin-drinking poker-playing parties which were of weekly occurrence in the lavishly appointed apartment.

Neighbors told of seeing the other men and women from their windows across the areaway. Marie Meyers, who resides on the same floor, declared the poker games were of the strip variety, wherein the women generally were bare lovers.

Confident of the effect of her threat, the Cranmer girl remained calm in her jail cell. She showed little doubt but that the help she so badly needs will mysteriously come to her from across the North River. However, it did not appear likely that she would be released, pending a hearing of the felonious assault charge now fixed for tomorrow morning.

BAIL EXPECTED

Unless the condition of Yates takes an unexpected turn for the worse, she probably will be released on bail at that time. The brilliant young Senator is now reported on the road to recovery, but so far as the police have admitted, he has not told his story of the shooting. What he may say is expected to prove a large factor in governing the possible release of Miss Cranmer.

Jerry Tucker, 4, Gets Film Contract

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Aug. 19.—(AP).—Red-haired Jerry Tucker, of Chicago, not quite 4, was taken suddenly from the extra ranks yesterday and placed under a long-term starring contract by Paramount Studios after less than a year in the film colony. Jerry recently attracted attention by breaking into a perfect recitation of Kipling's "Gunga Din" during an idle period.

LA FOLLETTE'S WIDOW DIES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP).—Mrs. Belle Case La Follette, widow, mother and counsellor of noted Progressive leaders, died here late yesterday of shock following an abdominal operation.

Both Senator Robert La Follette, Jr., and Gov. Philip La Follette, of Wisconsin, sons, and a daughter, Mrs. Ralph G. Bashford, of Washington, D. C., were at the bedside when death came.

The distinguished sons of the 72-year-old widow of the late Senator, Fighting Bob La Follette, arrived only a few hours before the end after rushing by airplane and train from their Wisconsin homes. She recognized them, greeting them with a faint smile.

Accompanied by the sons and daughter, the body was placed aboard a train at 2:30 p. m. today. The funeral party is scheduled to arrive at Madison, Wis., Thursday.

BOY, 14, SHOOTS BROTHER IN ROW

Charged with shooting his elder brother in the shoulder during an argument in their home last night, Rawsley Vonnerich, 14, of 1219 Liverpool street, North Side, was in the Juvenile Court detention rooms today. Removal to jail was ordered.

"I didn't mean to shoot him. I only wanted to scare him because he had been picking on me. But I'm sorry now."

The victim, Charles Vonnerich, 15, was in St. John's Hospital, where his condition was reported as fair.

The shooting occurred in the kitchen of the Vonnerich home in view of their mother, Mrs. Sadie Vonnerich.

Fanny Brice Quiz Set in $125,000 Suit

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—(AP).—Fanny Brice, musical comedienne, has been ordered to appear in Supreme Court, August 26, to be examined as to the details of her suit against the Art Cinema Corporation for $125,000 for breach of contract.

Bride of 2 Months Sends Mate to Jail 10 Days

Mrs. Catherine Slansky, 18, a bride of two months, today fined her husband, Stanley, 20, $10 or 10 days in jail.

Accusing him of coming to their home at 3106 Jane street, South Side, late yesterday without his pay and beating her when she admonished him, Mrs. Slansky was told by Magistrate Thomas D. Jones in Morals Court:

"I am going to let you do what you want with your husband. I am going to let you be the judge."

The astonished bride replied:

"That's fine. I am going to teach him a lesson and I am going to send him away."

She then imposed sentence.

Magistrate Jones asked:

"That's final?"

The bride replied:

"That's positively final."

Stanley, lacking the $10, took the 10-day jail sentence.

Mrs. Slansky testified her husband had lost his money gambling and when she scolded him she said he threw her to the floor and while he sat upon her, administered an old-fashioned beating with a shoe.

Magistrate Jones complimented the bride on her actions.

"If more brides showed the same courage there would be less wife beating and fewer divorces."

John D.'s Neighbor, Elite Speakeasy, Prey of Drys

NEW YORK, Aug. 19 (INS).—Society sighed today and wondered where to go for a drink now that the swanky Villa d'Este speakeasy, next to John D. Rockefeller's home, has been raided.

George M. Gallagher and two federal officers presented a card at the door and were given a royal reception and some Tom Collins. In return for this politeness they allowed the guests to finish their drinks and dinner before they actually raided the place, Gallagher said.

"Some class to that place. Goldfish in the first floor fountain, luxurious private rooms on the second and third stories, and real society patronage. I know, by the way they ate, drank and acted."

Whiteman Nervous as Bride Arrives 23 Minutes Late

DENVER, Aug. 19.—(AP).—Paul Whiteman, music master, and his fourth wife, the former Margaret Livingston, red-haired screen actress, today planned to cut short their Colorado honeymoon and return tomorrow to Chicago.

A desire to remain near his old home was impossible, Whiteman said, because of a music engagement.

The marriage yesterday at the country home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilberforce J. Whiteman, was simple with no music, no flower girls and only 12 persons in the room, including the bridal couple, when Dr. George B. Vosburgh, of Denver, read the vows.

But for a short time preceding the ceremony, Whiteman paced back and forth, smoked cigarets and scanned the road from Denver. Miss Livingston was late for her first marriage ceremony. Finally she arrived with her family, 23 minutes past the scheduled time for the service. She explained:

"It's my first experience, Paul, and I wanted to look my prettiest."

Five minutes later the marriage ceremony had been performed. Whiteman, after embracing his wife, said:

"If we are not happy there'll be no one to blame but myself."

Three years he has been orderly to the Secretary of the Navy.

Texas to Baffle Bombers By Donning Armor

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—(AP).—It was jealousy, the same kind of jealousy that kept me and my poor girlies out of France," that Texas Guinan blamed for the bombing of Woodmansten Inn, a suburban night club where she now keeps the whoopee whooping.

"They bombed your night club."

Miss Guinan was thus informed as a reporter's telephone call interrupted her sleep. She sighed.

"What next?"

She was told the only person in the building, a night watchman, had escaped uninjured, that the only damage was a few broken windows and that police thought the bombing the work of an amateur gone

CORBETT FLAYS ARMSTRONG ON JOBS

Declares Commissioner Is Opening County Payroll Only to Political Workers

County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong was accused of "playing politics with poverty" today by James O. Corbett, "Independent" candidate for Recorder of Deeds, in addressing a noon meeting in the "Independent" headquarters, Fourth avenue.

Corbett said:

"The taxpayers' money is being used—not to help the county obtain a dollar's value in service for a dollar's pay—but to aid the campaign of Joseph G. Armstrong for re-election.

PLEA FOR JOBS

"The needy workman with a wife and children dependent upon him for food, clothing and shelter, would be only too glad to get a job on the county road and earn his pay.

"Instead, the political worker, who 'legs' around his district and who works around the polls on Election Day is favored with a job.

Register of Wills Joseph N. Mackrell, candidate for re-election on the Republican ticket also addressed the meeting.

Mackrell mentioned mention of the County Commissioners' race except to denounce the action of State Senator Coyne in removing many competent men in the Inheritance tax department of his office.

SCORE KLINE

Charles Klein, candidate for re-election to City Council on the "Independent" Campaign Committee, also spoke.

Anders opened the meeting that he and other Gallatin League candidates were following re-election "waste and extravagance in public offices, but were not fighting against a "distinguished group of the functions of the Democrats held in those rooms in control at City Hall under Mayor Kline's leadership."

COYNE JOBLESS PLAN INDORSED

Leading engineers of Allegheny County have indorsed the plan of State Senator James J. Coyne, candidate for County Commissioner, to provide relief for the unemployed by casting concrete slabs in cheaply-constructed buildings during the winter to be placed in position in the spring for pavements along county roads.

Charles M. Reppert, chief engineer of the city Department of Public Works, said the suggestion was "worthy of thoughtful consideration." Tom M. Reed, chief of the city Engineering Bureau, said "the plan is not only feasible, but practical." Norman S. Sprague, former construction chief for the city, declared:

"The plan is in accordance with the recommendations of the highways sidewalk committee of the American Society of Municipal Engineers. The precast slabs can be manufactured in small, inexpensive plants located in communities where unemployment is most acute."

NIXON URGES HUMANE JUDGE

The County Court bench needs a man with a heart, declared Attorney Clarence B. Nixon, whose candidacy for Judge of the County Court earned him into Heidelberg, Duquesne and other communities last night. He added:

"The kind of cases coming to the County Court affect domestic relations, wherein a Judge can exert all in his power to avert the wrecking of a home and also are to the safeguarding of the custody of children. There are, too, the juvenile cases dealing with boys who get into bad company. The man who sits in judgment on such cases should be a father. I have two sons and a daughter."

Musmanno Indorsed By First Ward Club

Representative M. A. Musmanno, candidate for the Republican nomination for Judge of County Court, has been indorsed by the unanimous vote of the Victoria Club, of the First Ward, according to Secretary Fred Tyrnso. The indorsing resolution read:

"We are convinced that Representative Musmanno has all the qualifications essential for the office. His past record proves that he is a true champion of the people in their fight for justice, liberty and equality."

Factional Fights Involve Judicial Candidates Against Will

political candidates Judges Stadtfeld, Schaffer, J. Shee, W. Heber Dithrich, Samuel H. Gardner, W. H. McNaugher and Joseph F. Keenan were selected by Gov. Fisher after they had received the endorsement of the Republican Committee of Allegheny County, its primary [illegible] Democratic candidates were also selected by lesser politicians.

Coyne was directly responsible for the appointment of Judge Efan Fisher going through with [illegible] of a previous agreement with considerable reluctance because of the manner in which Coyne attempted to aid Gov. Pinchot in organizing the state Senate.

PLEA REVERSED

On the other hand, Armstrong was chief sponsor for McNaugher and Dithrich, the latter at the time of his appointment being solicitor for the County Commissioners. Dithrich, who at a meeting last night in Greentree called upon the people to indorse the principle that elected or appointed judges are entitled to be retained as long as they prove worthy, four years ago attempted to upset this principle when he was a candidate on the organization slate which tried to prevent the election of Judges Gray, Martin and Gollmar, and did succeed in removing the latter from the bench.

Naturally the seven sitting judges will attempt to weld together for offensive and defensive purposes, but the entanglement of two or three in an acrimonious struggle between Coyne and Armstrong might cause a general scramble for outside assistance and special commitments which would splinter the present slate. That is a contingency being gossiped in political circles sufficiently practical and professional to know the factional atmosphere which surrounds every judicial contest.

Unless Coyne and Armstrong get together, the former will fight Dithrich and McNaugher, and the chairman of the Board of Commissioners will aim a few shots at Egan.

AID FOR OTHERS

Warfare of this nature would [illegible] bring to Attorneys Alexander P. Lindsay, William H. Coleman, Joseph Reich, Thomas Marshall, Plark Gamble and others an assistance above the strength they have on their own account.

So far the slate of seven has been a credit to organization discernment and Lindsay is the only judicial candidate who has been taken up by the Independents, headed by County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern.

At the Greentree meeting presided over by Burgess Sam C. Lampe, Dithrich declared that every available courtroom in the courthouse and in the City-County Building has been in constant use since the opening of court last September, and not a word of criticism has been uttered or can be uttered of the service performed during that period.

Judge Egan in a statement from the campaign headquarters of the seven judges pointed out that Judge Ambrose B. Reid has twice previously been elected and on his record is entitled to be retained. Proceeding, Egan pointed out that not only had the six appointive judges been approved by Gov. Fisher but the Bar Association, in a referendum, had placed seven of the judges among the first eight choices.

EGAN'S STATEMENT

Egan said:

"We willingly present our qualifications, personal reputations as judges, lawyers and citizens along with our records in office alongside those of other candidates for comparison.

There is nothing unusual about the present situation. We only ask to be accorded the same treatment and confidence that was given to Judges Martin, Gray and Moore, to cite three gubernatorial appointments in recent years. They justified the confidence placed in their first appointment and later election, and I feel that my colleagues and myself are capable of serving just as faithfully.

"I'm sure each and everyone of us will try to do so at least to the limit of his ability."

Judge Egan before appointment to the bench was dean of Duquesne Law School.

19 PHILA. WARDS GET MACHINES

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 19.—(AP.)—Voting machines will be used in the September primaries in the 19 wards equipped with them, County Commissioners said after checking complete lists of candidates. Enough candidates withdrew yesterday, the last day allowed them, to make possible use of the machines without paper ballots in some of the voting areas.

Fights against the Republican leadership of William S. Vare appeared probable in West Philadelphia, the Northeast and Northwest where full slates remained opposed to the organization's selections.

John J. McDevitt, Jr., brother of President Judge Harry S. McDevitt, of Common Pleas Court, remained in the fight for District Attorney, despite expectations of party leaders that he would withdraw. McDevitt said in New York that he was in the fight "to a finish."

Candidate's Name Stricken Out By Judge

The petition of Charles Gerwig to be a candidate for judge of election of the First District of the Seventeenth Ward at the September primary was ordered stricken off the records by Judge James H. Gray in Common Pleas Court after a hearing on petition of Ralph Eglisdorf.

Peter P. Raymis, of 69 South Nineteenth street, testified that he had not signed the petition. His purported signature, with the name spelled Raymus, and address was on the petition. Gerwig testified that the petition was circulated and filed without his consent or knowledge.

The petition of Herman A. Regenstein to be a candidate for alderman of the Fifth Ward was attacked in a complaint filed by Attorney Morris M. Berger, alleging that Regenstein is not a legal resident of the ward. Judge Gray fixed a hearing for next Tuesday.

WYMARD GIVES TWO TALKS

Attorney N. L. "Skip" Wymard, candidate for Judge of County Court, spoke last night in the interest of his campaign before the Turtle Creek Non-Partisan Club in the Electric Plan Club and at a meeting of the Paramount Club, Duquesne.

The County Court, he said, has jurisdiction over juvenile delinquents, and its Judge should combine broad sympathy with experience in rearing children. He declared he was married and the father of two children and felt himself qualified to sit in judgment on the cases brought to that court.

PINCHOT LETTER URGING EXTRA SESSION

Speedy Action Needed to Prevent Suffering This Winter, President Told

HARRISBURG, Aug. 19.—(AP.)—Following is the text of Gov. Pinchot's letter to President Hoover, asking that a special session of Congress be called to deal with unemployment:

The President,
The White House,
Washington,
District of Columbia.
Dear Mr. President:

"In a recent speech at Detroit, copy of which I enclose, I called attention to what I believe to be the inescapable fact that the hungry cannot be fed during the coming winter without federal assistance. In support of my belief I beg to transmit herewith a report upon the actual situation in Pennsylvania, which is widely regarded as more fortunate in this emergency than some of the other states.

"This report, prepared by a committee of experts, and based upon federal and state official figures, presents conclusions which I have no doubt are substantially correct. Briefly, some of these conclusions, as of June, 1931, are as follows:

900,000 STATE JOBLESS

"The total number of unemployed in Pennsylvania is more than 900,000, or nearly one-quarter of the whole working population; wages are decreasing; distress in many counties is acute; many children are suffering from partial starvation; because of unemployment the hospitals are overburdened, and the demand for charity shows no decrease this summer over the high record of last winter.

"In the face of this calamity, Pennsylvania is by no means lying down. Social agencies in the state raised $11,200,000 for 1931, and special unemployment relief funds added $6,000,000. Every effort will be made to raise $5,000,000 more this fall.

"Mothers' assistance funds were increased in my budget by $1,360,000, and state contributions to hospitals were lifted to the highest point ever reached.

"In addition, the largest road program ever undertaken in any state is already employing over 19,000 men, and by September 1 will employ at least 25,000. Other very extensive state construction work has been begun.

THOUSANDS FACE HUNGER

"We intend to neglect nothing in Pennsylvania to secure every possible penny from private charity and community assistance. But when that is done to the limit of our ability, hundreds of thousands will go hungry next winter unless the federal government steps in. And if they do go hungry, the consequences will not stop with those who are allowed to starve.

"A situation like this in a state like Pennsylvania leads many to believe that the present emergency is as vital to the people as the great war. Local private charity cannot meet the need. Local public relief, which should carry the bulk of the load, is hampered or hamstrung, like relief from the state, by constitutional limitations upon appropriations and borrowings, and by the inability of taxpayers to pay.

"Under these conditions I am compelled by the necessities of my people to urge that you call an extra session of Congress.

"The regular session does not meet until December. After the two Houses have organized, many subjects of grave and pressing importance, including relief for people across the sea, will demand immediate attention.

QUICK ACTION URGED

"Because of them Congress may not be able to consider with promptness, much less act quickly upon, the question of federal help. But even if appropriations for relief at home could be debated, passed, and approved by Christmas. They would still be too late for the machinery of distribution to be organized throughout the nation in time to prevent widespread suffering and the probability of serious disorder.

"For these reasons I urge upon you, with all the emphasis of which I am capable, not only the calling of an extra session of Congress for the purpose of meeting this national emergency, but the calling of it at the earliest possible date. Already the time is very short.

"The calling of an extra session will be opposed by politicians as inexpedient. It will be condemned by large taxpayers as likely to cost them money. It will be deplored by those who refuse to admit the obvious facts of the present situation. But every such consideration is swept aside by the urgent need of our people.

RELIEF ABROAD

"You have yourself asked for appropriations by Congress for relief of the needs in distant parts of the world, and, having obtained them, have supervised their expenditure. It would seem to be most appropriate that you should do no less for our own needs here at home. Only an extra session can empower you to do so in time.

"Because this question is of grave consequence to millions of our people, I have taken the liberty of making this letter public.

"I have the honor to be, sir,
"Very respectfully yours,
"GIFFORD PINCHOT."

COUNTY ROAD WORK BEGINS

Construction of rural roads under Gov. Pinchot's 20,000-mile state wide project in townships to aid local unemployment today was under way in Allegheny County.

Grading equipment and material was expected to be delivered tomorrow on the first project, which was started Saturday, by the State Highway Department. This job consists of about 1½ miles of construction work in Pine Township, at Warrendale.

All local projects planned for this year under the Highway Department will be under construction by fall, according to H. E. Kloss, division engineer. Approximately 200 workers, employed from the district in which each project is located, will be employed by that time, he said. The Warrendale work will require a force of 25 to 45 men, he added, who will be paid the state wage rate of 40 cents an hour for six 10-hour days a week.

U. S. Air Forces in Hearst Metrotone

THE GLOBE TROTTER

A review of Uncle Sam's aerial [illegible] at San Diego, Cal., features the current issue of Hearst Metrotone News. Nearly 200 planes from the carriers Saratoga and Lexington and from Pacific Coast stations are reviewed as [illegible] flights to admiral aboard the flag-ship and provide the most impressive aerial spectacle staged since the great mobilization in New York.

Hearst Metrotone News flying cameramen provide some unusual forward views of Helen Lee's victory in the Gold Cup races at Montauk, N. Y. The winning craft makes an average speed of nearly 54 miles an hour, a new record.

TROTTING CLASSIC

The Hambletonian Stakes at Goshen, N. Y., is the big sport spectacle with 40 starters. Dan McMahon driving Calumet Butler favorites for a price of $15,000 is the greatest trotting classic of the year.

Of human interest is the appearance before the Hearst Metrotone cameras of the Austrian Archduke Anton of Hapsburg and Rumanian Princess Ileana, royal newlyweds spending their honeymoon in Vienna.

TUNNEY IN RING

Gene Tunney returns to the ring, he graced as heavyweight champ but this time as a referee. He's the third man within the ropes in a fast bout staged at Montauk Point, N. Y., by Navy fighters and his decision saves one from a complete knockout.

The wreck of the Basle-Berlin express laid to plotters aiming at the assassination of German Chancellor Bruening has been filmed by alert cameramen on the scene shortly after the disaster occurred.

All Paris takes a holiday as Sultan Mula Mohammed Yuself 18-year-old ruler of Morocco pays a visit to the French Colonial Exposition. The welcome accorded the youthful potentate makes a colorful spectacle of Oriental pomp against the picturesque background of the fair.

Our eyes now fever bright will strangely dull,
The years will theft the magic from each kiss,
I will grow old—and you less beautiful—
All love at last dies slowly down to this;
The gifts that you could give to me today
Will hold but small allure in time to be;
And all the words I crave to hear you say
Will fail in time to rouse an ecstasy.

The coin of youth was never meant to hold,
Yet, miser-like, you clutch it to your breast,
But time will put its blemish in the gold,
And there'll be little peace, my dear, or rest—

In thinking back on memories that rend
And holding coins that you can never spend!

—Don Wahn.

Gag

Harry Hershfield, who now is a vaudevillian between cartoons, is enticing roses with this one. When the British King was so ill a few months ago he went into a coma. A blood transfusion was needed at once. Doctors looked all over England for the sort of man whose blood was rich, but finally had to go to Ireland to find the right fellow.

British newspapers fussed and argued that England's King shouldn't have any Irish blood in him. However, the King's condition was so serious the doctors wasted no time and gave the King the Irishman's blood.

After the first, second and third transfusions His Highness didn't budge. They finally gave him a fourth. The King slowly opened his eyes, stretched his legs and arms, and jumping off the operating table, roared:

"The hell with the King."

As If We Didn't Know

Take it from Wayne G. Hainley: There's no fool like a wise guy.

Heheheh

Let them say what they will about Heywood Broun's baggy and ill-fitting trousers, Broun has his admirers anyhow. Sam Shipman, the playwright, for instance. At the Tavern last night Sammy defended Broun vigorously.

"He was defeated for Congress," admitted Sammy, "but he is going to run for Alderman. And mind what I'm saying—in four years he will be President!"

"Sure!" agreed a listener, "if he can hold up his pants that long!"

All Right, Get Clever

"It would be perfectly agreeable," observes an editorial writer, "if the party who invented the expression 'Making Whoopee' would invent something else."

Oh, I'm tired. You make up one for a change.

How Embarrassing

It happened in one of the small-time vaudeville theaters the other performance, according to Alfred Friedman. A hammy rope-walker was boring his auditors with what he called "conceptions of historical epochs."

He offered his conception of how George Washington would have crossed the Delaware if Washington walked a rope.

Finally one restless heckler in the balcony cried:

"Aw, put that rope around your neck and do Nathan Hale!"

Thrust

The latest squelch:

"All I hope is that you become an innocent bystander in New York."

Forgotten Slang

Slims or Marks are stool pigeons. . . . A target is the lookout man. . . . Dan is dynamite. . . . "Dr. Hall" is alcohol. . . . A playhouse is a jail easily escaped from. . . . Irish lasses are glasses. . . . Dot and Dash is a mustache. . . . Simple Simon is a diamond. . . . Yaffle is an arrest. . . . Whittler is a cop. . . . Rooting is working at theft. . . . Aunt Jane is Tia Juana (Mexico). . . . Block and tackle is a watch and chain.

All of which was culled from the memoirs of "Chicago May," who enjoyed a worse rate than death from the age of 14 onward.

You've Met Him

They say of a certain celebrity that the only time he turns down an invitation to a dinner is when he doesn't hear it.

Imagine!

They offer the one about the illiterate movie magnate who took his little son to hear the concert at Carnegie Hall. A woman in the seat next to the boy was saying:

"I guess they are waiting for him to put some resin on his fiddle."

"Papa," queried the lad, "what's resin?"

"Resin, my child," said the movie magnate, "is what acrobats put on their hands!"

He Hisses and Tells

From the Editor's mail:

"Dear Editor: I wish that this Winchell person would refrain from calling newspapers 'rags.' I feel that this term is highly insulting to the Fourth Estate and should receive the united protests of publishers and editors everywhere. If a newspaper is a 'rag,' then I suppose a book is 'rubbish' (some of them are) and a magazine is just plain 'junk.'—Reader, Akron, O."

From rags to snitches.

In Fewer Words

Now that the new theatrical season is almost here again it is time to revive the very smart Alec Woollcott's devastating sock:

"Let Him Who Is Without Sin Stone the First Cast!"

And They Slice Ham!

Another Hollywood fact concerns the movie producer who sent a 200-word telegram to an executive in New York. In it he gave full instructions for carrying out certain plans outlining everything in detail.

At the end of the wire, just before signature, he added:

"Please disregard the above."

Sotto Voce

Don Brad: No like.

Eva Curtis and John M. Egan: Sorry, haven't got his address.

Mary B.: But I didn't say that. One of the other boys did.

Was His Face Red?

Tom Van Dyke vows it actually happened. A racetrack tout, who always cornered Tom, offered him a "sure thing" for that day. Tom asked the tout to stop bothering him with his sure-thing wagers.

The following day the tout ran into Van Dyke again and breathlessly said:

"Give me $3 and don't ask questions!"

Tom handed the tout three pennies and walked away.

An hour, or so later the tout phoned Tom:

"Where can I meet you right away?" he said. "I've got 33 cents for you. Your horse was a walk-in and paid 10 to 1!"

CHILD TORTURE CHARGE PROBED

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 19 (AP)—Gov. W. H. Murray said he was starting an investigation to learn the whereabouts of Herman Parmer, said by Mrs. Mabel Bassett, commissioner of charities and corrections, to have disappeared "after a beating" from the State Institute for Feeble Minded at Enid.

Charges were made yesterday by Mrs. Bassett that feeble minded children there were locked in refrigerators, tied in sacks, held under water in bath tubs, struck with "straps, boards, broom and mop sticks," and that girls were placed in straight jackets, tied to beds and gagged. She submitted affidavits gathered in a recent inquiry at the institution and asked the removal of Ed H. Andruss, superintendent, and five employes.

GRAF CRUISES OVER BRITAIN

LONDON, Aug. 19—(AP)—The Graf Zeppelin, having brought 21 passengers to Hanworth Airdrome yesterday, was on a 22-hour cruise over the British Isles today.

The Zeppelin crossed the Humber at Hull and dipped its nose in salute to the memory of 42 British and American airmen who lost their lives when the ZR-2 exploded over the river at Hull nearly 10 years ago.

Nosing south, the Graf visited the east coast country which suffered most from German dirigible raids during the World War. There it dipped in salute to the town halls of important cities.

The airship was due back at Hanworth Airdrome from her "seeing Britain" tour at 7 p. m. After disembarking her party of excursionists she was scheduled to leave for Germany an hour later.

Artificial Leg Balks Suicide Attempt

Nicola Mudrick, 61, of 131 Second street, Rankin, was saved from taking his life, it is alleged, when his artificial leg stuck in mud as he waded into the Monongahela River at Rankin Bridge yesterday. He was rescued by employes of the McClintic-Marshall Company.

Mudrick was unemployed and was unable to procure work. He was despondent, it is alleged, and police had been watching him in an effort to avert any attempt to take his own life.

INGOMAR MEN GRANTED BAIL

Judge James H. Gray in Common Pleas Court today released Andrew and John Grosick, brothers, charged with murder, in $5,000 bail bond each, following a habeas corpus hearing. The brothers were accused in connection with the death of Harry Bricker of Ingomar, Sunday, on a warrant issued by Alderman George Anderson.

Dr. J. W. Means, Coroner's physician, testified Bricker had died of asphyxiation while intoxicated. Bricker died in front of his home where he had been taken by the Grosick brothers.

TELL IT TO SALLY -:- -:- Follow This Unusual Feature Day by Day -:- -:- By SALLY MARTIN

Has a Cripple the Right To Get Married?

Has a cripple the right to love?

Should the loss of a leg mean the sacrifice of marriage?

Dick and Jeanne want to know.

A year ago Dick was straight and whole . . . and counting the days until he should take little Jeanne home.

Then came the accident . . .

A mangled body and a broken dream . . .

And now Jeanne wants to go on with the old, sweet plan, claiming that a crippled leg "doesn't count"—but Dick doesn't agree with her on that.

"A cripple has no right to have a wife!" he cries in his bitterness.

Which is right? If you were crippled Dick . . . or adoring Jeanne . . . what would your answer be?

THE LETTER

Dear Sally:

I am coming to you for advice about a problem that concerns me deeply. I know that you'll tell me what you really think.

Two years ago, I met Dick at a party and, Sally, it was love at first sight. I fell for him like a ton of brick, and he for me. After going together for six months, we became engaged and I was so happy I wouldn't have changed places with a queen. We planned to be married this August and then, last December, Dick was hit by a car and badly injured. His right leg had to be amputated. When he learned that, he didn't want to live and be a cripple, but he just had to get well because I loved him so.

Now, I want to go ahead with our plans for August, but Dick says that a cripple like him has no right to have a wife. I think this is nonsense, because I would rather have Dick with his one leg than anyone else with two perfect legs, so there!

Mother and dad haven't said anything about it, though. I really don't think they want me to marry him now that this has happened. But, Sally, it is my life and marrying Dick is the only way I can be happy. Of course I haven't said anything to him about the way I think they feel.

He and I both have wonderful faith in your advice, so won't you help us? Dick got a settlement from the accident and with good management, we can live on that. Besides, I am working, and there is no reason why I shouldn't continue. Please help us. Aren't we entitled to happiness, the same as anyone?

JEANNE.

GIVES EXAMPLE

Aren't you entitled to happiness? Sure you are, dear . . . both of you—provided you have the spunk to earn it. Has a cripple like Dick a right to have a wife? Why not? Provided he's man enough to climb above the horror and pain of his accident and be a regular husband. A maimed body can't beat him so long as he keeps his soul healthy and valiant.

Ever hear of Joe Hartz? Probably not. He lives in Portland, Ore. Years ago an accident robbed him of both legs. Did that stop him from living? It did not. Did it stop him from marrying the woman he loved, and making her a good husband? It did not.

No one knows what anguish he suffered when he first realized what had happened to him. But the whole town knows his smiling face and the victory he has won. Sometimes you see him scooting through traffic on a little wheeled platform he had made many years ago. Sometimes you see him walking cheerfully down the street on a pair of artificial legs that he handles almost as well as if he'd been born with them . . . and the town salutes his courage when it sees him pass.

SOUND ADVICE

Shall you go ahead and marry Dick? If he's going to sit down and be an embittered, whining quitter—No! For if you did, you'd inevitably come to despise him . . . not because he has a crippled body, but because he has allowed his soul to go haywire.

But if he has the sand and the manhood to dig in and beat his accident . . . to make a success of his life in spite of it—yes!

Imagination Makes Pictures to Trick and Deceive, Says Fay King

By FAY KING.

It has been wisely said most of our troubles never happen. We waste time worrying, and things do not turn out half as badly as we imagined they would.

The same may be said of our more optimistic imagination:

The happiness we think we have missed. The success we might have attained. The fortune we might have made.

We are merely regretting the potential possibilities, not the actualities.

A girl regrets the happiness she might have had if she had married a certain man. But had she married him, she might have been very unhappy.

A girl dreams of the fame which was denied her because she never got to Hollywood. What she probably escaped was disappointment and failure.

Imagination always exaggerates and deceives!

How to Keep Well

Science Warns Against Fake Cures for Cancer

Dr. Copeland

In a recent radio speech made by Lord Moynihan, president of the Royal College of Surgeons of England, he warned against fake cancer cures. With great sincerity and earnestness, this eminent surgeon warned against the dangers of unscientific and unconfirmed methods of cure.

Many persons who know they have cancer fail to avail themselves of the opportunity to rid themselves of this dread disease. Instead, they delay, trying all sorts and means of treatment, but never the correct one.

By various newspaper announcements, the American Medical Association has endeavored to warn the public of this danger. But there continue to exist many unauthorized institutions offering so-called "cures" for cancer.

Cancer is a dreadful disease. But in most cases, if recognized early and treated early, it can be entirely eradicated.

Statistics issued by the British Ministry of Health indicate that in cases of cancer of the breast operated in the early stages of the disease, 90.1 per cent of the patients were well ten years after operation. It was pointed out that when the disease was neglected and surgery resorted to at a late stage, 94.4 per cent failed to recover.

As suggested by Lord Moynihan, cancer in its early stage is a local condition. This is why surgery has accomplished such great results within recent years.

Treatment is of little or no avail when the victim neglects treatment and refuses to be operated on in the beginning. After suffering torture, in desperation, the patient may permit the surgeon to operate. Unfortunately, it may then be too late to bring about a cure.

The importance of periodic health examinations is demonstrated by the attitude of the public towards this dreaded disease. Because of such an examination the condition is likely to be discovered when there is little annoyance or consciousness of trouble. When immediately operated upon, such cases make satisfactory recovery.

It is surprising to learn of the number of intelligent persons who become panicky and refuse operation. Undoubtedly, this is because of fear of the "knife."

What a mistake! Really an anesthetic and a minor operation are not to be dreaded. I know this is the fact.

Lillian Warns Madge She Is Making Mistake in Pampering Dicky

"I ought to go back to my work," I repeated, setting down my cup of coffee and staring at Lillian across the breakfast table.

"I told you I was going to say something startling," she said complacently.

"You spoke truly," I replied, and she elevated her eyebrows.

"Don't get your fangs out!" she advised with a grin and the freedom of speech which is always her prerogative as she very well knows, in speaking to either Dicky or me. "You've only yourself to blame if I speak frankly. Remember you just told me that I could say to you what you wouldn't say out loud to yourself. I'm just voicing the thing you probably wouldn't even whisper, but which deep down in your inmost consciousness wherever you have it locked away you know is there, waiting for expression."

"But, Lillian!" I protested, squirming under the probe she had just thrust into an old wound, "go back to work with a month-old baby! How could I? You mean, go back to my position in the Veritzen organization."

"If you can't deal with the Dickybird in any other way, yes," she said. "But," as she saw the look of stark dismay which crept over my features at the idea, she was voicing, "it won't have to come to that. Look here! Will you listen to me quietly for a few minutes? I haven't taken you over my knee for a long time, and the slipper is suffering from disuse."

I sent back the companionable grin she gave me, and touched the bell for Katie.

"Suppose we have the rest of our breakfast on the veranda first," I said. "I suppose a criminal may have an extra cup of coffee before execution?"

"Go as far as you like." She waved her hand loftily and Katie who is well used to my friend's vagaries visibly suppressed a giggle as she listened to my directions to bring a tray to the veranda.

"Don't choke Katie," Lillian advised gravely. "It's always bad policy to hold in a giggle."

Katie exploded forthwith.

"Oh-h, you such funny womans, Missis Underwood," she gurgled.

"Thank you, Katie," she said, gravely. "Praise from Sir Hubert, and all the rest of it. Once more you have made my day radiant."

My little maid's thoroughly bewildered look made it hard for me to control my own risibles, but when we reached the veranda, Lillian dropped her bantering air, and her face held so serious so concerned a look that the uneasiness with which I had heard her first startling statement, came back to me with a rush.

"Will you concede one thing to me?" she asked, "that I know the Dickybird as well as anybody on this green earth can?"

"I never have questioned that," I replied quietly.

"Will you grant that next to Marion and my husband, you are the dearest thing on earth to me, the sister I never had?"

I found my voice suddenly unsteady.

"As Dicky would put it, 'that goes double,'" I said huskily.

She shot a keen glance at me.

"Steady!" she warned. "It isn't any part of my plan to reduce you to tears. I want your mentality, not your emotions to listen to me. That's going to be the trouble with you if you don't look out. For nearly a year now you've been listening to your heart instead of your head, and the poor old dome will be a permanent runnerup instead of champion as it should be with your type of woman.

"What type of woman am I anyway, according to your classification?" I asked her with apparent flippancy but real curiosity.

"The type that cannot afford to be a doormat," she answered readily, and laughed when I said indignantly:

"I am not a doormat. I never have been one. Dicky wouldn't care for me at all if I were one."

"You said a mouthful, Queen, that time," she quoted, then sobered instantly.

"There are many varieties of doormats, my dear girl," she said, "and some of them are so ingeniously disguised it's hard to tell 'em from the self-respecting sofa pillows on antimacassars. It's that kind you're in danger of becoming, not the ordinary variety, which simply begs to be kicked around."

There was a sting in her words, but I knew that it was a salutary one, and I sat motionless, waiting for what she would say next.

"I don't need to point out to you," she said, "that the Dickybird can be the most adorable person in the world when he sets out to be. He has all the qualities of a hero of romance, a high sense of honor, bravery, gentleness, generosity, chivalry—but—you didn't catch him young enough to undo what his mother and sisters, and later all his feminine friends, succeeded in doing—stimulating the ego in his cosmos until he lost his perspective as far as his relations to women are concerned. In other words, adorable as he undoubtedly is, he is also a pampered pup and you have to consider that fact in dealing with him. And the unmistakable evidence of his pampering is the fact that his standard of value for anything is the difficulty he has in obtaining it—or keeping it."

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

When a fairly young woman discovers that she is growing wrinkles, there is something wrong. Lines may be the result of ill health, late hours, lack of recreation and fresh air, or malnutrition. Premature wrinkles call for general hygiene, generous oiling of the skin surface, application of ice, and a habit of drinking one quart of milk a day. Breakfast should include a dish of cereals with plenty of cream and sugar.

There can be no standard weight, due to the fact that the bony structure of human bodies vary. There used to be an old rule, to multiply one's height in inches by two, the result being the correct weight. The important matter is to have a shape that is of good proportions, with no hippy effects, but with a lifted chest and a waist of normal slenderness. The bust line is being revived again, the bedslat figure being out.

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Ladies' Right

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Will you kindly tell me the proper or conventional length of an engagement?

My fiancee insists on six months, while I believe that a year is the proper length of time.

A MAN READER OF YOUR COLUMN.

There isn't any conventional length of an engagement, these days, especially, dear sir, and gallantry has always given to the lady the "divine right" of saying when the marriage was to take place. I'm sure that you are thrilled that she wants the time of the engagement to be short, but if you need more time to save for the new home and the new responsibilities that you will assume, I am sure that this can be adjusted and understood as you talk over the subject together.

Bridesmaid Requirements

Will you kindly inform me if it is appropriate for a divorced woman to act as a bridesmaid at a wedding ceremony?

READER.

Yes, it is perfectly correct and in good form for a divorced woman to act as a bridesmaid at a wedding ceremony unless the rules of the denomination forbid it.

RADIO TO AID HOME FUND

Radio favorites of Pittsburgh tonight will take part in a radio program from WJAS between 6:30 and 7 p. m. to help raise funds for the Little Sisters of the Poor's new building campaign. The Rt. Rev. Hugh C. Boyle, bishop of the Pittsburgh Catholic Diocese, and also one of the survivors of the disastrous fire, will speak. The musical features of the program will be under the direction of Edward P. Riehl, director of the Knights of Columbus Operatic Company.

Additional workers took the field today seeking funds to rebuild the Little Sisters of the Poor Home. Among them were members of the parishes of the Annunciation Church, North Side; Resurrection Church, Brookline; Assumption Church, Bellevue, and St. Scholastica's Church, Sharpsburg.

Encouraging reports have been received from workers, according to the Very Rev. John P. Gallagher, executive committee chairman, who announced the following additional subscriptions: $500, P. C. Lauinger; M. F. Reddington, $200; J. T. Tonkin, $100; Dr. William C. Puhl, Mrs. Annie Rogers, Henry Hunneshagen, Mrs. Herbert DuPuy, William F. Von Bonnhorst, W. N. Sauer Company, George Murren, Mrs. George M. Laughlin, Jr., Liberty Engraving Company and W. J. Creighton.

DEPRIEST TALKS HERE FRIDAY

Oscar De Priest, Negro Congressman of Illinois, is scheduled to make the principal address Friday night at a rally of the Fifth Ward Voters' League at People's Tabernacle, Addison and Heman streets. John W. Wright, president of the league, will preside.

Invitations have been accepted by Judges Ambrose B. Reid, S. J. Snee, candidates to succeed themselves; Thomas M. Marshall, Charles A. Waldschmidt, Frank A. Pekarski, Frank F. Canuti, and Harry H. Negley, candidates for Judge of Common Pleas Court; County Court Judges D. Paulson Foster and Richard A. Kennedy; Benjamin Lencher, M. A. Musmanno and Martin A. Flanagan, candidates for judge of County Court; candidates for Judge of County Court, Councilman R. J. Alderdice and John D. Houston, candidates for Council, and Sidney R. Ray, candidate for Alderman of the Fifth ward.

Ship Purser Suicide Over Love Affair

NEW YORK, Aug. 19 (AP)—Joseph Apud, 28, assistant purser of the liner Southern Cross, was found dead in his cabin early Monday with a bullet in his temple and a pistol in his right hand, officers of the ship reported when the liner docked in Brooklyn.

Authorities said a note left by Apud indicated he had been despondent over a love affair and that he had committed suicide to wound the girl. Ship's officers said Apud had used a pistol belonging to William H. Murray, son of the Governor of Oklahoma.

Year's Program Replete In Biography

An appropriate line from Carlyle—"History is the essence of innumerable biographies"—prefaces the new year books of the Colloquium Club. And truly it would seem that the program committee has extracted the "essence of innumerable biographies" in gathering its material for the season opening October 12.

On that day two papers will be given under the titles of "Origin of American People" and "Philosophy of the Short Story," and there also will be included a reading of De Maupassant's "The Necklace."

President's day does not come until October 26, but it will, according to custom, be held at the Pennsylvania College for Women with Miss Margaret Stuart, Miss Laura Green, Miss Nita Butler and Mrs. Stanley Scott, of the faculty, as hostesses.

The influence of the New England, Middle Atlantic and Southern colonists on America's national character, a reading from "The Limestone Tree" and a paper on "The Education of Henry Adams" will make up the afternoon's interests for November 9, and for the subsequent November meeting there will be a paper on "Reasons for Adoption of United States Constitution," a biography of Benjamin Franklin and a reading from Selma Lagerlof's "The Christmas Guest."

A quartet of members will read Susan Glaspell's "Alison's House," and a fifth will discuss "The Theaters of Foreign Countries" when the members meet on December 14. Beginning the new half-year on January 11, there are to be heard discussions of the origin and growth of present political parties and political issues of today; old Indian villages of Western Pennsylvania and the life of Thomas Jefferson.

Discuss Theaters

An open meeting this too. In January offers variation and February's first session will bring a contrast of industrial and social conditions of 1765, 1860 and 1930 and also a biography of Henry Ford.

Methods of financing wars, the life of Alexander Hamilton and a reading of "Mrs. Knollys," by J. C. Stimson, are scheduled for February, and continental and insular expansion of the United States, the life of Dwight Morrow and the reading of Milne's "Michael and Mary" for March.

American schools, colleges and universities, the importance of the British and French struggle for supremacy in Western Pennsylvania, the history of the National Pike, Western Pennsylvania churches and homes and early courts and Pittsburgh's past and present together with appropriate readings, will furnish mental food for the remainder of the year which closes May 23.

Mrs. John McKibbin is Colloquium's new president.

And now that other Council the Pittsburgh Council of Catholic Women, has set the date for another bundle party. Singularly, it is the same day, next Wednesday, on which the Council of Jewish Women will have its big bundle party at the Hotel Schenley. The Catholic Council will hold its affair at Council House from 2 until 5 o'clock with tables provided for bridge, euchre and "500." A bundle of rummage for Council's Economy Shoppe in Council House garage is the price of admission and the "tickets" may be sent in advance of the party. Mrs. M. H. Demond is chairman.

Following the custom which they established three years ago, members of the Highland Pioneer Club will attend the dinner to be given tomorrow by the Ladies of the G. A. R. at the home near Hawkins Station. The gathering tomorrow will also be the monthly meeting of the Pioneer Club which is made up of about 38 retired Highland exchange telephone operators who were 20 years in the service. Mrs. Fannie Sprague is president.

The Independent Republican Women of Allegheny County will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in Central Branch Young Women's Christian Association, Chatham street. Ralph H. Smith, candidate for the office of District Attorney, and Joseph Reich, candidate for the Common Pleas bench, will address the meeting, which is under the chairmanship of Mrs. John Matthews.

THE GREAT POPULARITY OF EMBROIDERED EMBELLISHMENTS

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun Telegraph.

PARIS, Aug. 19—The mode still peeps at the world through an eyelet. It is astonishing how we have taken to broderie Anglaise, not only for frocks, but for accessories as well. Thus we find hats, shoes and bags all neatly eyeleted and all looking very cool and comfortable. For the eyeleted mode certainly is and looks cool and thus proves itself an ideal hot weather fashion. Of course the success of batiste, organdie and other crisp, cotton fabrics was responsible for the reintroduction of this form of embroidered embellishment, and we sincerely hope that it will be with us again next summer. Why should a sensible, pleasant fashion that is rapturously received one year be absolutely tabu the next year? At any rate we trust that such will not be the fate of the nice pleasant little eyelet.

TO SHOW YOU how the eyelet has been used and adapted for every type of accessory, we are sending you a sketch of a bag and shoes so treated. Hellstern shows the shoes in white antelope with hand worked eyelets embroidered all over the vamps, sides and back. The shoe is strengthened in the necessary parts by using plain antelope and the heel is of the same leather. Another charming accessory is the bag of dainty white eyelet embroidered batiste. The batiste is mounted in three tiers on a silver and marcasite top bordered with turquoises and bearing a handsome central motif in engraved crystal. A delicate silver chain completes the lovely mounting and the bag, which is from the Maison Renard, is lined in turquoise blue moire.

WITH BLACK and white sports clothes, it is natural that we should see many accessories featuring black and white interlaced effects. The shoe, from Hellstern, is of black kid with sides and vamps of interlaced strips of black and white kid. The blucher closing laces has five pair of eyelets.

* * *

THE HAT is made entirely of narrow white linen braid interlaced in simple basket weave. A black ribbon band surrounds the crown and ties at one side. With the hat is carried a large purse of the same interlaced galon with a flap of black patent leather passing through an ivory ring and closing with a concealed snap. Both hat and purse are from Courtier Soeurs.

Annie Lannan To Become Bride

Attended By Sister

Extended Auto Trip

This afternoon at 5:30 o'clock, at a small home ceremony, Miss Annie Inskeep Lannan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Edgar Lannan, of McKeesport, becomes the bride of Alvah McCune Squibb, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Squibb, also of McKeesport. The ceremony is taking place before an embankment of evergreens, palms, ferns and pandanus. The Rev. H. P. Dolan, of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, McKeesport, is officiating.

The bride given in marriage by her father is wearing an empire gown of ivory satin, fashioned with long sleeves with a veil of ivory tulle cascading from a cap of tulle caught with orange blossoms. Her bouquet is of Josetha Hill roses and lilies of the valley.

Her sister, Miss Isabelle Lannan, is her sister's only attendant, wearing a gown of pale flesh colored chiffon and lace with matching lace mitts. She is carrying butterfly roses and baby's breath. Serving as best man is Dr. Gaylord Wolf, of Clairton. Robert Todd, organist, plays the wedding music.

In the receiving line with the bride's mother, who is wearing dark blue lace is her sister, Mrs. August H. Zeigler, and her son, Louis E. Lannan, Jr., and the bridegroom's mother, who is wearing wisteria satin.

After the ceremony, attended by 45 guests, there is a dinner with the bride's table laid with covers for 12 guests centered with blue and white flowers and lighted by tall tapers. Smaller tables for the guests are centered with similar flowers. Miss Katharine MacArthur, of Ravenna, O., is a house guest of the bride, and was her room mate at Pennsylvania College for Women.

After an eastern motor trip Mr. Squibb and his bride will be at home in McKeesport.

The bride's cousins, Lieut. John Inskeep and Alonzo Inskeep, entertained in her honor Monday evening at Pleasant Hill Farms with a dinner party for 12 guests.

Mrs. Charles Burns, of the South Hills, has returned from an extensive sojourn in the South. She was accompanied by her son, Charles Wesley Burns, who is at present motoring to Ripley, N. Y., for a 10-day visit.

Miss Nellie Udick and Miss Fannie Hobson, of Pittsburgh, are in New York at the Ambassador Hotel.

Mrs. Albert Page Cole, of St. James Terrace, after an extended visit in St. Paul, Minn., has returned by way of the Great Lakes.

* * *

Miss Helen, Miss Emma and Miss Fannie Wilson, of Aliquippa street, who spent a month in Digby, Nova Scotia, have returned home.

COME TO THIS HAPPY LAND

A FOREIGN Adventure this Side the Atlantic

DO YOU realize that you can well afford a prolonged journey through a fascinating foreign land? French-Canada is just across the line, but how very different from any country you have visited. You will see it all in luxurious manner, from the wide decks of large modern steamers. Your cabin will be your home, complete with every convenience. Without sense of motion your ship will glide down the mighty St. Lawrence River, in and out of strange bays and up the ever-glorious waters of the Saguenay. From Toronto, the famous Saguenay cruise includes visits to many interesting places among which are the Thousand Islands, the St. Lawrence Rapids, Montreal, Quebec, fashionable Murray Bay and quaint Tadoussac — the largest cities in Canada to its earliest settlement—from inland waters alive with modern shipping to the wild and lonely grandeur of the Saguenay.

Write for illustrated folder, Niagara to the Sea, which describes in detail the pleasures of this wonderful vacation cruise.

that EXTRA something . . .

CLICQUOT has it!

EXTRA quality has spread the fame of this fine old ginger ale all over the world. Three generations of Americans have enjoyed its mellower flavor—the result of finer, purer ingredients and longer, slower blending.

Clicquot Club has that all-important EXTRA something that earns the applause of its "public." That is why so many people prefer its keen, sparkling life . . . . its zestful refreshment. Three distinctly different blends of ginger ale—and Sas, Clicquot's delightful confection drink with the true sarsaparilla flavor.

We Now Present

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor

Bernie Armstrong has added amateur radio to his hobbies and expects to be on the air soon with a 50-watt transmitter . . . makes eight trips daily to the Stanley mail box to see if his government license has arrived . . . his pet diversion is fooling celebrities like Joe E. Brown with a trick loudspeaker arrangement in the living room, which is connected with a microphone in the attic . . .

Darrell V. Martin

Bernie sits his guest in the living room exposes himself puts on a record from the attic and the guest marvels at the clear radio reception . . . Then Bernie assumes a falsetto voice, tacks on a fake call letter and proceeds to embarrass his guest with inside facts and information . . . Bernie says they rarely get wise until he winds up in his natural voice with "Ah, there, I fooled you that time, didn't I? Don't run away. I'll be down from the attic in a minute." Bernie says he had the most fun with his contraption when Joe Penner was here . . . Dick Powell told Joe on the q. t. about Bernie's stunt . . . When Bernie slipped out of the living room, Penner tiptoed after him and hid behind some portieres near the attic radio shop . . . Joe overheard everything Bernie said . . . Bernie was giggling as he went down the steps to explain the joke to Joe and had hardly put his foot in the living room when a voice boomed out "Wanna buy a duck?" . . . It was Joe at the microphone!

Curran Murder Indictments Seen as Sleuths End Row

TWO GANGSTERS IDENTIFIED IN KILLING

Ferris Offers All Evidence To Jackson; City-County Rivalry in Case Over

Rivalry brewing between city and county detectives investigating the murder of Morris Curran, bootleg supply dealer, was dissipated today as Assistant District Attorney Earl N. Jackson credited Lieut. Frank Ferris, of the city homicide squad with solving the slaying.

Ferris had declared he would not divulge the names of two suspects to the District Attorney's office. Today he went to the prosecutor's office with a portfolio containing all his evidence. Jackson said he did not request the photographs or names, but that Ferris said he would turn them over if wanted.

Jackson said the two Pittsburgh gangsters, identified by half a dozen eyewitnesses as those who shot and killed Curran in Perrysville avenue, June 24, would be indicted by the September grand jury. Their arrest was imminent, he indicated after conferring with Ferris.

A bootleg war was behind the murder, Jackson said. No evidence had been uncovered implicating dealers in yeast and sugar, he asserted.

District Attorney Andrew T. Park through the county detectives had launched a belated probe of the murder. Today's developments indicated that the county investigation would be dropped.

4 HELD ON FAKE MONEY CHARGE

Four men were held by a United States commissioner today for action by the federal grand jury following hearing on a charge of making counterfeit $10 Federal Reserve notes. Bond was set at $5,000 each after the government placed in evidence impressions and protographic equipment alleged to have been used by the accused.

The men are Art Krobe, 25; J. F. Bova, 30; Alfred Lux, 30, and William Anderson, 25.

The first three men were arrested in the house and a small building in the rear of the South Nineteenth street address, and shortly afterwards Anderson was taken into custody in the immediate neighborhood. The raiding party, led by William A. Landvoigt, operative in charge of the United States Secret Service in the Pittsburgh district, reported finding a large number of partly completed spurious notes, a large printing press and photographic material and equipment.

Alaskans Rationed As Ice Bars Ships

POINT BARROW, Alaska, Aug. 19. (AP)—With supply boats held away by the Arctic ice pack and winter rapidly approaching, residents of this northernmost settlement of Alaska today were on daily rations to conserve meagre food supplies.

Five boats were ice-locked along the coast 50 miles south of here. Residents were preparing to send dog teams overland to the boats within a few days.

Welfare Workers Vote Contributions

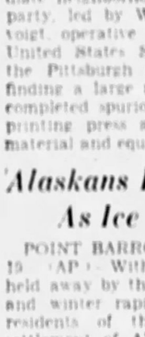
Staff workers of the Family Welfare Association at their offices in the Fulton Building yesterday voted to make voluntary contributions to their share of the $100,000 deficit of the Welfare Fund of Allegheny.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Aug. 19.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

What's all the scandal today? Good deal of talk of Congress meeting early on account of the unemployed. Well, I believe if I was unemployed and hungry I would want a little more substantial help than just the thought of "our boys" being gathered in Washington. In fact I believe a man can get just as hungry with them there as he can if they are investigating the Philippines or France or somewhere else, and I am sure Mr. Hoover aint bringing the lads in just because he has missed 'em so. But Congress might do something, they are about due.



Will Rogers

ASSAIL DE ROSA CANDIDACY IN COURT

Declared Ineligible by Foe Citing Three Convictions In Gambling, Vote Cases

The bitter factional fight in the Twelfth Ward swept into Common Pleas Court today when a suit was filed attacking the eligibility of Michael De Rosa, Jr., son of the blind Twelfth Ward political boss, seeking nomination as Alderman.

The petition was filed by William J. Miller, an elector of the Twelfth Ward, and names the Allegheny County Commissioners and De Rosa as defendants. It alleges that De Rosa has been deprived of opportunity of holding office and of voting because of his convictions in 1927 and 1928 of maintaining gambling devices and being a common gambler and his more recent conviction of violating election laws.

Miller seeks an injunction restraining the Commissioners from printing De Rosa's name on the primary and general election ballots; another restraining De Rosa from continuing as a candidate as well as decrees declaring him ineligible to hold office, disqualifying him as a voter and invalidating his nomination petition.

INGRAM ROBBER INVOLVES PAL

Pleading guilty to breaking into nine residences in Ingram Borough, John Brier, 27, of Ada, O., was held for court last night when, arraigned before Justice of the Peace James W. Watson, of Ingram. Brier implicated Mike Haway, alias "Pay Day" Mike, 28, of Weirton Heights, Weirton, W. Va., who also was held for court. They were committed to jail without bail.

Brier was arrested by Patrolman William T. Shaffer, near the Ingram railroad station the same night two of the robberies occurred. When questioned, police say, he implicated Haway, whom West Virginia authorities took into custody for Ingram police. Haway was returned to Ingram by Patrolman Shaffer.

Jobless Man Injured In 2-Story Plunge

Despondent because of unemployment, police say, Hugh Sweeney, 54, of 5358 Hillcrest street, leaped from the second floor of the American Reduction Company plant, in Juniper street, today. He was picked up on the hillside below, suffering from a fractured shoulder and severe bruises. He was taken to West Penn Hospital.

THREATS MADE TO WATCHMAN BY STRANGER

Warned to Leave Double Dwelling, He Calls Police; Nonunion Men Employed

A sabotage attempt upon a double house in Wellington Heights, near West View, where electricians went on strike yesterday, is believed to have been frustrated by West View police after a watchman had been threatened by an unidentified man.

Lights left burning in the house were still on when police arrived. Contractors said they feared wiring in the house would be cut. They say this has happened in about 50 cases in the district where nonunion labor has been employed.

WATCHMAN WARNED

Last night about 8:30 o'clock, a car stopped in front of the house and a tall young man told the watchman to leave if he knew what was good for him. The watchman telephoned the general contractor who took police to the scene in a truck.

The cutting of wiring after the plastering has been completed is said to cause serious damage, costing more than $1,000 in an ordinary home. It is said that wires have been snipped close to the switch boxes with special pliers.

STRIKE CONTINUES

The strike of electricians involving 14 construction jobs, six of which are public schools, continued today. Members of the Allegheny County Electrical Contractors' Association announced they have placed a full quota of nonunion workmen on all the projects.

The cause of the strike centers in the wage of the foreman, officials of the union claiming he should be paid $15 a day on jobs of more than $2,000. Contractors say the rules of the union set the rate at $12.50 a day for the foreman.

DRY RAIDS TRAP WOMAN, 3 MEN

Four persons were arrested by prohibition agents in five raids yesterday.

Confiscation of 224 pints of beer, 12 quarts of gin and several gallons of alcohol at 6480 Monitor street, and the arrest of Louis Weiss, was reported by the agents. At 224 South Main street they reported finding 500 pints of homebrew and arresting Michael Carlon. Carlon later was released on his own recognizance.

George Angus was arrested at 816 Third avenue, New Kensington, where 1,560 pints of homebrew and several bottles of whisky were seized, raiders reported. Two 15-gallon stills were seized, agents said, in the home of Minnie Ryan, Hampton Township. The Ryan woman was arrested.

In a dwelling in Jeannette a 75-gallon still, 17 barrels of mash and 20 gallons of moonshine were found. No arrests were made.

Postoffice Site Picked at Ambridge

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—(AP)—The Treasury has selected property fronting on Merchant street, and running back to Melrose avenue, as site for the new postoffice at Ambridge, Pa. The property was offered by E. H. Van Horn and the borough of Ambridge for $44,453.

10 Cases Reported For City Quarantine

The City Department of Health today reports these new cases in quarantine: Scarlet fever, 2; diphtheria, 1; measles, 1; whooping cough, 3; pneumonia, 3.

Auto Thieves Take Undertaker's Ambulance

Police throughout the city today were searching for thieves who early today stole an undertaker's ambulance from the emergency entrance of Presbyterian Hospital.

The ambulance, owned by H. G. Henney, an undertaker, of 419 Chestnut street, Carnegie, disappeared while the driver helped carry a patient into the hospital.

Commander Walberg of Kathryn Mae Kovce Post No. 509, American Legion, East Liberty, signing a check for $100, the post's women members' contribution to the building fund for the Home for the Aged of the Little Sisters of the Poor, impoverished by fire.

WHISKY STOLEN FROM STORE

Robbers who forced a cellar door leading to the McGrath and Longwell Pharmacy, Frankstown and Homewood avenues, early today took four and one-half cases of whisky, half a case of champagne and one gallon of alcohol, cigars and cigarets and $50 in cash, according to a police report.

The robbery was discovered by D. C. Longwell, one of the partners.

Candidate Quits; Name on Ballot

The name of Sidney Ray, candidate for Alderman of the Fifth Ward, will appear on the ballot in spite of his withdrawal petition, Gilbert Cloonon, of the Bureau of Elections, said today. Cloonan said Ray's petition had been improperly filled out.

Too Much Beer? 47 States Envy Wisconsin Plight

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

Today's news is a bunch of hoss feathers.

The biggest laugh comes from Wisconsin where the localites claim the state is suffering from an overproduction of beer.

There was once a beer that made Milwaukee famous. But the stuff that is making it jealous is brewed up in Madison.

It's only 5 cents a throw. The Eighteenth Amendment acts as a high tariff in Wisconsin. It keeps out foreign competition.

You get a scuttle of malted sunshine for a nickel and all the free lunch you can fumble. Chicken, trout, pickles, cheese, red beets, rye bread, onions. And as the final token of his esteem, the barkeep slaps you in the face with a hatful of caviar.

Wisconsin is happy. But it still leaves 47 states wounded or missing.

If the Wickershams want to investigate the situation in Madison we warn the taxpayers that the appropriation should be no more than 5 cents.

The annual five-day meeting of the Pittsburgh Conference of the Free Methodist Church opened today in the Mt. Washington Free Methodist Church. Bishop William Pierce, of Evanston, Ill., presided. About 250 ministers and delegates from Southwestern Pennsylvania and West Virginia are attending.

Father Injured, He Seeks Work in Pittsburgh

When your father is in the hospital and your mother and five brothers and sisters are starving 700 miles isn't so far to hike for help after all, according to 14-year-old Robert Litz who arrived in Pittsburgh last night after a trek from Muskegon, Mich. Robert started early Saturday, making the trip in little less than two days and a half.

Mrs. Leverapft of 121 Shaler street, Mt. Washington, the boy's grandmother, said she didn't recognize Robert when he got in last night, he was so dusty.

Bob, who is large for his 14 years, declared he had a good time.

He said:

"It was a real experience. I've always wanted to come here, and last year when grandma was visiting us in Michigan I said that I would be down this year.

"Dad was hurt while he was working in an electrical plant, and we have had a hard time. I've walked all over Michigan and the Lakes region trying to find work, but I guess I'm too young. I thought if I came to Pittsburgh, grandmother could help me out. I'm going to look for work and if I can find any why I'll stay right with grandma. When shool time comes, I guess I can go here."

LINDSAY DENIES JUDGE'S CLAIM

Alexander P. Lindsay, candidate for Judge of Common Pleas Court, speaking last night in Alderman Means' headquarters, Frankstown and Lincoln avenues, replied to a remark attributed to Judge W. Heber Dithrich that nine of the 25 judicial candidates for Common Pleas Court did not submit their names to the recent lawyers' referendum. Lindsay declared:

"I was in that referendum and received a handsome recommendation from the members of the Allegheny County bar. I did not solicit one vote. Every appointed judge was a prospective candidate from the time of his appointment. Committees were formed in their behalf by their friends and active propaganda was carried on for weeks.

"For sitting judges to claim now that the referendum placed a halo over their heads is absurd. In view of the facts, and every lawyer knows the facts, the appointed judges will have to prove their worth by some other means than that to which they now resort."

Mrs. Roth, 99, Widow Of College Head, Dies

GREENVILLE, Pa., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Mrs. Henry W. Roth, widow of the Rev. Henry W. Roth, former president of Thiel College, died here today. She was 99 years old.

The Rev. Mr. Roth was president of Thiel from 1870 to 1887. He became administrative head of Passavant Hospital in Pittsburgh in 1899.

Lure of River Boating Seizes Pitt Student

The legendary "Steamboat Bill" has nothing on Al Hendrickson, 27, the youngest captain on the Ohio, whose father and grandfather steamed for nearly 60 years from Pittsburgh to New Orleans. Hendrickson is also one of the rivermen who have a college education. He went to Pitt for three years before the lure of boating took him from his studies.

Young Hendrickson, who obtained his captain's license in May, was brought up on the river, although he has only been engaged in sailing for the last five or six years. He is one of the youngest men to hold a captain's license in the history of river shipping.

S. W. Hendrickson, well-known pilot and captain of a coal boat, who died 10 years ago, was Al's father. He covered the territory from Pittsburgh to Steubenville for nearly 30 years.

Al has never had the opportunity to sail his own craft.

1 DEAD, 8 HURT IN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENTS

Brentwood Man Loses Life In Crash With Truck; Woman and Girl Run Down

One man was killed and eight other persons injured in automobile accidents in the city last night.

Max Silbermann, 45, of 2733 Brownsville road, Brentwood, died in Mercy Hospital from injuries suffered a few minutes before when the automobile in which he was driving crashed into a Pittsburgh Railways Company car near the Mount Oliver loop.

THREE HURT IN CRASH

Three persons were injured, one believed seriously, when an automobile in which they were riding crashed into a telephone pole at the intersection of Reynolds avenue and Sheffield street, Ridgemont, last night. Those injured were Mrs. Helen Schwartz, 28, of 5 Reynolds avenue, Ridgemont; Mrs. Ida Georgetown, 45, of West View, suffered head injuries when she was thrown from the car driven by Peter Sarf, 29, of Ingomar. All of the victims were taken to Allegheny General Hospital.

GIRL RUN DOWN

Struck by an automobile at Wabash and Mansfield avenues, Raine Rucci, 4, of 2304 Arlington avenue, West View, was taken to the Hospital with a probable fracture of the skull. She was still unconscious, it was reported, when the car driven by Hudson, of 2541 Brighton avenue, Georgetown, Cameron, 4, of 2038 McClure street, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital after charges against an unidentified motorist. Joyce said he was driving on Park avenue at Gorgeline street and South Diamond street.

William Kelly, 37, of 1 Sarah street, was taken to the South Side Hospital for treatment of bruises suffered in an automobile collision at South Nineteenth and Carson streets.

MORTGAGE CUT MORATORIUM URGED HERE

Real Estate Dealer Proposes Ban in Letter to Mellon; Sees Job Relief in Plan

A proposal for a moratorium on mortgage reductions for one year has been made by C. C. Hamilton, real estate dealer and leader of an organization known as the Taxpayers League, in a letter addressed to R. D. Mellon, president of the Pittsburgh Clearing House Association.

Hamilton declares that demands for 10 per cent reductions in mortgages are too drastic under present business conditions and says that an owner, paying only taxes and interest would have the means to repair properties and thus help to relieve unemployment.

Other leading real estate brokers have been working for tax reduction but have said they are opposed to the moratorium idea because they believe it would disturb the financial system more than it would help.

The tax situation is held extremely serious by Hamilton, who says that 50,000 property owners in the county have not paid their property taxes this year, and that there are more than 12,000 county tax liens and 7,000 city tax liens accumulated in the last three years.

FARM DAMAGE LAID TO FUMES

Vapors, fumes and gases from 10 stacks of the plant of the Donora Zinc Company in Forward Township have ruined the soil and vegetation on the 100-acre farm of Mrs. Anna Procz and her nine children, she alleged in her suit in Common Pleas Court seeking $15,000 damages. She stated her husband, John Procz, bought the farm in 1919 and died in 1924. The stacks are 150 feet high, one and a quarter miles from their farm towards which the fumes are blown by natural wind currents, according to the suit.

Electrical Firms To Hold Field Day

An electrical field day, the first of its kind in Western Pennsylvania, will be held September 5 at the Bauer Farm, near Greensburg, by the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company and the West Penn Power Company, for the farmers of the tri-state district. Demonstrations of electrical farm machinery and addresses by leaders of scientific farming will be the features of the day.

WARNING!

If You're Told Some Other Preparation Is the Same as GENUINE BAYER ASPIRIN

BEWARE

THIS warning is printed to put the public on guard against a deception which may be practised against those who seek genuine Bayer Aspirin for pain, headaches or colds.

We take this means of warning you, so you may be able to protect yourself and your family against the results of such deception.

BEWARE!

Other preparations, we are informed, have been offered at times to those who ask for Bayer Aspirin; and even represented in some cases as being "the same as Bayer Aspirin."

Watch Out! Remember that years ago doctors warned the public against "headache remedies," some of which are heart depressants and unsafe for many people to take.

Then remember how Genuine Bayer Aspirin came. And was acclaimed the world over by leading men of science as SAFE relief for pain, and was prescribed without hesitation by eminent physicians. For genuine Bayer Aspirin does not harm the heart.

What folly, then, in the light of these things, to dose yourself with drugs of which you know nothing. Don't gamble—KNOW.

The genuine Bayer Aspirin tablets are made by a special process, under careful supervision of scientists, in the Bayer Laboratories, with over 25 years of highly specialized experience.

So when you want SAFE relief for pain, cold or headache, ask for BAYER ASPIRIN. You have a perfect right to ask for what you want. And an equal right to get what you ask for.

Look for the name BAYER on the package. And the word Genuine in red. Insist on Genuine Bayer Aspirin and refuse substitutes.

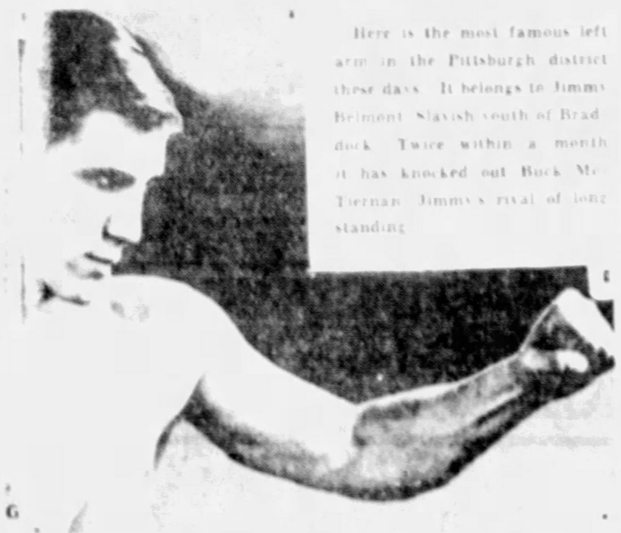
LONDOS REAPS FORTUNE AS CHAMP



Here is the most famous left arm in the Pittsburgh district these days. It belongs to Jimmy Belmont, Slavish youth of Braddock. Twice within a month it has knocked out Buck McTiernan, Jimmy's rival of long standing.

AFTERMATHS ON THAT second knockout defeat of Buck McTiernan by Jimmy Belmont at the Meyers Bowl, North Braddock, Monday night.

Frank Klaus, former middleweight champion of the world, the man who made Belmont, otherwise George Timity, of Hudson, he is today, after Jimmy had done a lot of floundering at with other managers, tells how Jimmy came on to win at that hectic bout at night. "We left right with a left hook again there were only 30 seconds of the allotted time to go. Park is, in answer to the question, "Was I going to throw in the sponge?" "Was I, hell! I was breaking my heart to shoot his puncher to the rear because I was afraid he head that knocked out McTiernan in their other fight. I all along I had been trying him to work on the body and broken Buck.

"You're missing by a mile," I kept telling him. "Keep shooting them downstairs and he'll finally drop his head down where you can hit it. That's what happened in the end."

Burns Brooker, manager of McTiernan, [illegible] "McTiernan fell from [illegible] he says. Right after the fight newspapermen came in to ask him what he thought about the result and he answered that he was going to keep on fighting Belmont until he finally beats him. He thinks he should be able to beat Belmont every day in the week, but the records show that he has lost twice in a row.

"What was the matter with him in this latest fight? Well, so far as I can determine, he wasn't helped any by the low weight he had to make. He is at his best around 155 pounds, and the articles called for him to scale not more than 153. He had trouble getting down and finally wound up taking it all off at once and coming in at 151½, a pound and less than he weighed when he boxed Belmont before. He tired and weakened in the later rounds.

"Well," asked your interviewer, "what was the idea of slugging it out in the last two rounds when he was tired and weak." With the big lead he held up to this point, why didn't he play safe and box in the closing heats and avoid all of that punishment and those knockdowns?"

"What am I supposed to say?" was the laconic reply.

IT'S BUCKY LAWLESS at Tommy Freeman for Belmont in his next start. Already there has arisen a demand for a Belmont-Ted Lewis bout. Lewis already has beaten Jimmy once and being up in the ships himself now, but Klaus is arranging for a match with either Lewis or Freeman, both of whom are nationally famous before taking on any more local opposition. He feels that with the confidence born of his two conquests of McTiernan, after having had to fight uphill in each of them, Jimmy should have a lot of confidence in his ability and that the time is ripe now to send him out against some of the fellows with big names.

Johnny Goodman

WHILE BELMONT is capturing no [illegible] McTiernan will go west into the [illegible] probably will meet Louis a boxing [illegible] there. They [illegible] will [illegible] big [illegible] for the winter [illegible] Belmont [illegible] Meyers [illegible] Garden. But [illegible] more [illegible] which [illegible] weight is [illegible] 153 pounds.

The gross receipts of Monday night's fight set a season record at the Bowl. The gross ticket sale was $5,667.50, and the boxers were paid off on a cut of $3,229.15. Each boxer received $1,729.99 for his end. McTiernan got $1,500 for his first meeting with Belmont, which means that he has drawn down a total of $3,229.99 as balm for his defeat. Belmont has totaled more than $2,500 for his end, which is not so much when it is remembered that up to the fight Klaus took Belmont's end, chartered his entire training crew to war fighting for whatever thing from $100 up per start.

JIMMY'S SUCCESS is the result of hard and earnest work on the part of both himself and Klaus and comes at a time when it was sadly needed to save the family fortunes of the Tilichs. The purse for the first McTiernan bout took the family out of debt into which it had plunged by non-employment, and the second represents a nest egg.

Klaus went to the Tilichs home following Monday night's battle with Jimmy's $1,729.99 wrapped up in a newspaper. The bills were in packages of $50. There never had been so much money in the Tilichs home at one time before, and the elation of Jimmy's mother can be imagined. For the present, at least, the family problems are solved and the rough-and-ready Jimmy of the ring is the fair-haired boy of the household. As soon as possible, he plans to buy a home for his folks, of whom there are many.

EXPLANATION OF RIPLEY'S CARTOON OF YESTERDAY—THE SEVENTEEN-DOMED MOSQUE OF THE CAMEL—The Djama Negu Mosque of the Camel in Tripoli stands on the spot where Anan el Hiab Hanum, the Prophet's mother-in-law, is reputed to have spent a night. The Mosque more properly commemorates the presence of the venerable lady's saintly camel and the curious domes to the number of 17 which surmount the temple resemble the camel's humps in shape. The position of the mother-in-law of the Prophet is exceptional in the high regard in which she is held by the faithful. The lot of the common run of mother-in-laws is an unenviable one in the East.

DETROIT, Aug. 19 (INS).—Because of inclement weather conditions, the national public parks tennis tournament was transferred from Waterworks Park to the courts of the Detroit Tennis Club today. Starting time of the doubles matches was set back until after noon. A heavy rain last night made the Waterworks Park courts unfit for play.

Frank Broida and Mrs. Jean Artzberger, Steel City representatives in the tourney, are to compete in the doubles, and probably will swing into action this evening.

Both Pittsburgh contenders are now out of singles action. Broida having yesterday joined his teammate woman on the defeated list by undergoing reversal at the hands of Harold Bartel, Cleveland ace, in torrid second round man-to-man battle, 2-6, 6-4, 6-2, 6-3. Mrs. Artzberger dropped a fast Monday battle to Virginia Durker, St. Louis star and defending champion.

BROIDA, FREEDMAN PAIRED

Broida enters the dual division in company with Daniel Freedman, New York performer, who was eliminated in singles by his brilliant Philadelphia namesake, Bernard Friedman, yesterday. The West Penn-Gotham pair face tough going, however, for, having drawn a bye through bracket one, they must start their campaign in the teeth of the flashy opposition certain to be furnished by the crack Chicago pair, George Jennings and Gordon Braudt.

Mrs. Artzberger has likewise teamed with a metropolitan player, Helen Germaine, seeded No. 4 in women's singles. The Pittsburgh-New York feminine duo will open hostilities with the Dearborn pair, Lena May Jones and Ona Wittersheim.

Lefty Grove Out To Equal Win Mark Today

CHICAGO, Aug. 19 (AP).—Robert Moses Grove, the world champion Athletics' great left-hander, today was down to face the White Sox in an effort to equal the American League record of 16 straight pitching victories.

Of Grove's 24 triumphs this season, the last 15 have come in a row, and another today would tie the record set in 1912 by Joe Wood, of Boston, and equaled the same season by Walter Johnson, of Washington.

The modern major league record is 19 straight, by Rube Marquard, of the New York Giants, another southpaw, in 1912.

KRENZ, WEIGHT STAR, DROWNS

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 19 (AP).—The United States lost one of its outstanding shot and discus men for the 1932 Olympic games with the drowning yesterday of Eric Krenz, former Stanford University star, in Emerald Bay, Lake Tahoe. He was seized with cramps and drowned before help could reach him.

Krenz was the first man in history to spin the Greek platter more than 160 feet. He held the present world's record of 163 feet 8¾ inches. In the I. C. A. A. A. A. games of 1928 Krenz broke the meet record for the shot with a toss of 50 feet ½ inch.

A'S WIN EXHIBITION

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Aug. 19 (AP).—The Philadelphia Athletics, world champions, defeated Battle Creek, Michigan, semi-pro baseball team, 10 to 7, yesterday in what is considered an exhibition game with the Battle Creek All Stars. The score:

HOWDY TELLS OF ROMANCE

By STAFF CORRESPONDENT

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 19.—Just before leaving for Pittsburgh last night, Howard Grosskloss, stellar collegiate infielder of the Pirates, disclosed to the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph the details of his engagement to the West Virginia girl whom he plans to marry after he graduates in medicine. The bride-to-be of the youthful Buccaneer is Miss Geraldine Rice Wendell of Terra Alta, W. Va.

The versatile athlete and scholar met Miss Wendell when he was employed as a student councillor at Staunton Military Academy at Staunton, Va. Besides his other accomplishments in the classroom and field of athletics it now develops that Howard taught Greek, Latin and other arts to the cadets of the military school.

"We did not wish to have our engagement made public at this time, but now that it is out I suppose it is just as well as holding it," said Grosskloss as he confirmed the report. Naturally he was the recipient of many congratulations from his teammates.

Grosskloss was ordered home by Manager Ens on account of his lame leg. He probably will be ready to play when the club returns from the eastern trip.

Coast Loop Likely To Test New Plan

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 19 (INS).—Adoption of split-week series instead of the regular weekly seven-game series now in vogue, loomed for the 1932 Pacific Coast League season today as the result of the announcement of Victor Devincenzi, secretary of the Oakland (Cal.) Club.

Devincenzi declared that Herb McFarlin, schedule maker for the league, was prepared to submit a program for the 1932 season which would schedule each team playing two different teams during a week with three and four-game series.

BOSTON, Aug. 19.—The opening game of the four-game series between the Pittsburgh Pirates and Boston Braves scheduled here this afternoon was called off on account of rain.

The two clubs will meet in a doubleheader tomorrow afternoon. Single games Friday and Saturday will wind up the engagement.

Before leaving Philadelphia yesterday the Pirates enjoyed a measure of satisfaction. The Freebooters hopped all over three home pitchers for 18 hits while Glenn Spencer was pitching a steady, careful game against the home guards. The outcome of the Pittsburgh base-hit festival was a 14-to-5 success.

KLEIN HITS TWO

And the Burros registered their decisive success without calling into play a single homer of the fluke species. Meantime, Chuck Klein, the king-pin swatter of the Shotton outfit, rammed two more four-sackers into Broad street.

"The quality of mercy is not strained," according to the Bard of Avon, but if the Pirates go in for poetry they don't want to have anything like mercy in their systems when fighting with the Phillies on their home lot.

Taking eight pastings in the 10 previous games at Baker Bowl, the Pittsburghers were in no mood to show any quarter. If they could have piled up 50 tallies they would have been glad to remain on the field until darkness chased them. That's the way the Pirates feel about the Phillies when they meet them on the latter's lot.

P. Waner, after hitting about five liners that were caught in the two doubleheaders, was at the head of the merciless squad. Brother Paul whacked out five hits in succession, and when he came up in the ninth there was blood in his eye and a scowl on his set chin. But Fallenstein was able to get Brother Paul out of the picture without allowing him his sixth hit.

Says Nick Altrock

(Baseball's Comedian)

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 19.—This is the time of year when the experts get out their berry pails and start picking big league managers for next year. From what you read in the obituary notices, practically everybody is on the skids but Connie Mack.

It's just a late summer pastime.

Wilbert Robinson's neck has been on the guillotine so often, his adams apple is flattened.

Nick Altrock

In Pittsburgh, managers are fired as regularly as blast furnaces and Detroit is reported buttering Bucky Harris' high chair so he will slide off easier.

And it's all because only one team in eight can land the pennant. And in St. Louis they sometimes fire you for that.

U. S., BRITISH STARS WIN AT FOREST HILLS

Homewood, Dormont Clash in City League Fray; Reliance Meets Aces

MRS. VAN RYN DEFEATED IN BIG UPSET

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 19—(AP.)—California's crack delegation, led by the one and only Helen Wills Moody, matched strides with the British brigade yesterday as stars of the women's tennis sphere marched through the second round of the forty-fourth annual championship tournament at Forest Hills.

A checkup at the close of the second day's play showed the field of 16 survivors lined up as follows: Great Britain, seven; California, five; Atlantic Seaboard, four. Under the circumstances, it was very comforting to have Mrs. Moody on the American side.

QUEEN HELEN EXTENDED

Although she had her hands pretty well filled in disposing of Mary Greef, a determined little campaigner from Kansas City, Queen Helen the first remained a top-heavy favorite to win her seventh national title despite the strong showing of the British contingent. Outside of Betty Nuthall, who has swept through her first two matches in impressive style, the invaders do not have a member believed capable of extending Mrs. Moody.

Miss Greef supplied the gallery with its greatest thrill of the day when she fought Mrs. Moody a ding-dong battle for 38 minutes before succumbing, 6-2, 6-3. The Kansas City blonde, who is much of a tennis player herself, did not submit until after she had broken through Queen Helen's service twice in the second set and brought the score to three-all in games.

HELEN JACOBS WINS

Helen Jacobs, California's No. 2 threat, moved into the third round with ease, defeating Virginia Rice of Boston, 6-0, 6-2. Miss Nuthall, whose crown they all covet, disposed of Clara Greenspan, of New York, 6-4, 6-0.

Two members of the American seeded list, Mrs. John Van Ryn, of Philadelphia, and Marjorie Morrill, of Dedham, Mass., failed to survive the second round. Mrs. Van Ryn, the former Midge Gladman, fell a victim to the spirited attack of Sarah Palfrey, of Sharon, Mass., 1-6, 8-6, 6-1 in a major upset.

Miss Morrill was forced to default to Alice Francis, of Orange, N. J., after they had divided two sets. She strained her back in the second set.

As a result, two unseeded players still were in the running. Miss Francis and Virgina Hilleary, of Philadelphia.

All but two of the seven surviving British players came through the second round without the loss of a set. Mrs. D. C. Shepherd-Barron, captain of the British Wightman cup team, received a scare before she got rid of Mianne Palfrey, sister of Sarah, 1-6, 6-3, 7-5, and Joan Ridley had to go three sets to down Ruby Bishop, of Los Angeles, 6-3, 4-6, 6-0.

Dormont will have another opportunity to help its cause in the second-half race in the City League this evening when the Homewood club appears at the South Hills grounds.

Bimmy Steele probably will be sent to the mound to try and stop that hard-hitting Dormont outfit, but he is going to have a job. Books trounced Homewood Monday with Lou Jacoby giving the East Enders six hits. Out of the six Heinie Boll got two.

The Books will have a hectic evening, meeting the North Side Civics at the Salt Works. Art Rooney has the boys out there hustling.

LINWOOD FACES TEST

The West Penn League will get a play this evening with the leaders swinging into action. Linwood meets the Marty Griffin club at Schenley High School Field. This game should give the Hill fans plenty to become enthused over.

While Linwood is battling to hold the leadership, the Reliance nine will meet the Homestead Aces at Whitaker, in the other feature game of the loop.

West Field is undergoing repairs and this necessitates taking the game to Whitaker. Reliance is eager to avenge that first half championship defeat, and it is likely that the Whitaker fans are going to see a game worth while. Conley probably will twirl for the Aces and Capt. Dutch Spencer will be on the mound for Reliance.

Three games will be played in the Steel City loop. The Shee nine rather upset the dope by handing the East End Cardinals their first defeat in the second half Monday.

This evening, the clubs meet again at Homewood and Manager Bill Ryan expects to send Hussey to the mound. Shee is just behind the Cardinals, and if the team wins this game, the Cardinals will have a tough second half on their hands.

GRAYS LOSE

The Homestead Grays and the Baltimore Black Sox continue their week-long series at Edgar Thomson Field, Braddock, this evening. The game is slated to get under way at 6:15 o'clock.

Last evening, at Harrisburg, the Black Sox defeated the Grays, 5-4. Tomorrow the teams meet again at Akron.

The Hollywood Girls play the Wally Smith club at the Schenley High field this evening. Alma Stack, a member of the girls' team, was injured last evening when she was hit by a batted ball in a game at Beaver. She was taken to the Rochester Hospital for treatment.

Fight Results

At New York, Earl Mastro defeated Kid Francis, 10 rounds; Mat Goth defeated Fr. Zwick, 8 rounds; Lew Feldman defeated Johnny Penn, 8 rounds; Artie Bell, Kid Newsboy Brown, drew, 8 rounds; Sammy Seidman defeated Andy Zaccardo, 10 rounds.

At Toronto, Charley Belanger, knocked out K. O. White, 2 rounds; Steve Ross defeated Johnny Goodrich, 8 rounds.

At Lynchburg, Va., Jackie Wanderer and Charley Jarvis drew, 8 rounds.

At Hartford, Conn., Billy Lynch defeated Ralph Lerair, 10 rounds.

MASTRO BEATS KID FRANCIS

Mastro's margin over the sturdy little Italian was clean-cut.

Father to Battle Son for Crown

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Aug. 19.—Father and son will face each other in the finals of the Fairmont Field Club's annual golf championship early next week as Judge Scott C. Lowe meets his son Robert W. Lowe, the defending champion.

Judge Lowe eliminated J. D. Alexander in his semi-final match, 4 and 3, for a surprise victory, while Sonny Lowe defeated Ed Krause by a like margin to reach the finals.

SHIELDS LOSES TO VINES

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 19—(AP.)—Elisworth Vines, 19-year-old tennis sensation, today gained the semi-final round of the Newport Casino tournament by dazzling Francis X. Shields of New York, second ranking player and Davis Cup star, with his amazing stroke repertoire for a 3-6, 6-3, 6-1, 6-1 victory.

Vines' perfect forehand strokes amazed the gallery. He slashed at Shields' feet, trapped him almost at will and then, when Shields tried to upset him by rushing to the net, coolly passed him with vicious slices to the corners.

Shields tried hard in the fourth set. Several times he put on a sensational streak, only to have the masterly Californian pull up to deuce with his deadly forehanders and then take the games with a pair of drives that caught Shields flat-footed, the same tactics that gave him 12 of the last 13 games.

Johnny Van Ryn, another member of the United States Davis Cup forces, lost the first two sets to Bryan Grant before he steadied down to eliminate the unseeded Atlanta player, 8-10, 0-6, 6-1, 6-3, 6-2, for a semi-final match against Vines in the lower half of the draw.

MARKET SOGGY UNDER OIL ADVANCE

Active Leaders Settle Down to Lower Levels in Dull, Irregular Trading

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—(AP.)—The stock market as a whole was unsympathetic to a sturdy advance in the oil shares today, and after the mid-day virtually the entire list turned soggy.

In important Wall street banking circles the Wiggin report on the German financial situation was lauded as courageous and outspoken, but since it only tended to emphasize the real difficulties in the way of a solution of the trying financial problems of Europe, it could scarcely be interpreted as a bullish factor in the financial markets. The German government bonds, however, were moderately strengthened.

The oil shares moved forward solidly as a group during the morning, recording gains of a point or two in such issues as Standards of New York and California, Texas Corporation, Royal Dutch, Union of California, Amerada, Phillips and others. The advance was soon checked by sagging tendencies elsewhere, however, and gains were slightly modified. Losses of 1 to 2 points appeared in such stocks as United States Steel, American Can, American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, Radio preferred "B", International Harvester, New Haven and Union Pacific.

On the whole, however, Wall street could not take much comfort from the mid-week business statistics. Two of the weekly steel trade reviews reported a moderate increase in ingot output, while a third estimated it as slightly lower. In the main, however, it is agreed that automobile production is holding up a little better than expected, and moderate seasonal recovery during the next six weeks or so seems indicated by inquiries for rails and structural steel.

CORN PRICES SET NEW LOW

CHICAGO, Aug. 19 (AP.)—Fresh weakness in corn unsettled all grains late today. All deliveries of corn cut under the season's bottom price record. September oats sold at the lowest figures since 1899. Good rains over much of the corn belt had a bearish influence.

Corn closed nervous, ½-2¼ cents lower than yesterday's finish; wheat ¼ off to ⅛ up; oats ½-¾ down, and provisions 5 to 12 cents decline.

Report Says Oil Merger Nears End

NEW YORK, Aug. 19 (AP.)—Reports in Wall street today said that the protracted negotiations for the consolidation of Prairie Oil and Gas Company, Prairie Pipe Line Company, Tide Water Associated Oil Company and the Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation have reached the final stages.

Oil trade circles said a meeting of officials of the interested companies will be held next week when it is thought possible a final agreement will be reached.

Baltimore and Ohio Would Run B.,R.&P.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (INS.)—The Baltimore and Ohio Railway today asked the Interstate Commerce Commission for authority to operate the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh Railroad under a form of operating agreement.

At the same time the latter road asked for authority to operate the Buffalo and Susquehanna. The Baltimore and Ohio owns 99.39 per cent of the capital stock of each road.

Mexico May Pay With Properties

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 19.—The bill for solution of Mexican interior debt problem, scheduled to be presented Thursday to the extraordinary session of Congress, contains provisions for liquidating part of the debt by giving creditors government property situated in various parts of the country.

Farm Board Weighs China Wheat Offer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Members of the Federal Farm Board this morning informally took up consideration of the Chinese offer to buy wheat on long term credit for flood sufferers. It is expected that the board will go into session on this matter soon, but it cannot be said when a decision will be reached.

Petitions Exchange To Extend Rights

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—A petition is being circulated among members of the New York Stock Exchange asking the board of governors to extend for one year to February 7, 1933, the expiration of the date for membership rights.

HUGE PIPE LINE COMPLETED

NEW YORK, Aug. 19 (AP)—Completion of the Panhandle-Eastern Pipe Line, running 805 miles from the Panhandle natural gas fields of Texas to Rockville, Ind., was announced yesterday by Bonbright, Dixon, Gaffney & McKee, engineers and builders.

The pipe line, with its 419 additional miles of lateral lines will supply approximately 75 cities and towns in Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Ohio and Indiana. It was built jointly by the Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line Company and the Columbia Oil & Gasoline Corporation, at a cost of $40,000,000. It required 18 months to construct.

Its initial capacity will be 80,000,000 cubic feet a day. As con... sumption ... the capacity may ... be increased by the installation of ... booster pumps.

An autumn rise in business is not expected by one brokerage house. J. E. Timmins & Co., which sent a representative to the Middle West to make a private investigation. This firm says: After a week spent traveling through the Middle West we are forced to the conclusion that there is very little evidence of improvement in business, and that whatever recovery takes place during the autumn will be seasonal and minor. In cities such as Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit and contiguous territory conditions range from bad to deplorable.

A study of the stock market to ... absorb the selling caused by bata... tions in dividend reductions ... of ... (as ... steel ... and other recognized handicaps ... is hailed with satisfaction by bull ... leaders. This is accounted for to a considerable degree by the in... crease in genuine investment buy... ing as evidenced by the steadily expanding stockholders lists. Since January 1 according to Dow Jones & Co., more than 35,000 names have been added to the roster of stockholders of the American Telephone and Telegraph Com... pany, bringing the aggregate to above 600,000 different investors. United States Steel, in its latest report, showed the largest stock... holder list in its history.

One expert points out that the market is moving less and less as a unit, one group advancing while others recede and many of the old bull leaders being permanently side-tracked. While large numbers of representative stocks have declined steadily, the rails in particular other is... sues have apparently found the turning point.

For the securities markets as a whole the outstanding cau... tionary signals are the persis... tent decline of certain groups of bonds and the weakness in railroad stocks. Both arise from the same cause, the relati... tively small net income of the principal roads. Both can be remedied in the same way, by the stabilizing of railroad in... come through an increase in freight rates. This, in turn, di... rectly hinges upon the revival of business, for which the whole country patiently waits.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 19 (AP)—Cotton opened barely steady, 6 to 11 points lower with the July showing the most ... losses of 10 to 12 points during the first few minutes under a renewal of liquidation and selling inspired by weakness in Liverpool.

All months made new low ground for the movement with October contracts selling off to 8.80 and March to 8.91, under the early pressure. The declines brought out some commission house buying, however, and after the first hours of selling subsided the market became quieter. It showed very little rallying power however and prices were holding within 2 or 3 points of the lowest at the end of the first half hour.

Cotton futures opened steady, unchanged to 1 point lower; Oct. 8.80, Dec. 8.85, Jan. 8.88, March 8.91, May 8.96, July 8.96.

Fanchon Poses as Evelyn to Get New Start in Life

CHAPTER VI

For an hour she had been sitting here, half kneeling, in the soaking rain, not caring. Now that escape presented itself to her she began to grow frantic. To get to her feet; to shout feebly; to run about in strange and aimless circles, avoiding always the carnage and the wreckage. Had she been able to help, to do anything, it would have occupied her. But there was nothing that she could do.

She took off the light coat the tweed coat. It was soaked through. It was cut and ripped and bloodstained. She laid it over Evelyn. She started to walk away. But there was no road. There was no path. She was lost as if she were in a desert and she was alone.

She struck out away from the thick circle of trees and struggled to the top of a small hill. Smoke stained the sky far off. There must be a town there, sooner or later there must be a road.

She would walk as long as she could.

She stumbled along. Through underbrush. Trees would turn her in three would part and let her through. There would be a stretch of open ground.

The tears fell, her eyes were blind with them. She was thinking frantically. Dare I . . . ? shall I . . . ? but I might . . .

Death and disaster had arranged for her an amazing escape. If she dared go through with it. Did she care?

FANCHON RESCUED

She would. Anything rather than to be hunted from pillar to post, shrinking from every stranger, shrinking from every uniformed representative of the law, fearing to see Tony again. If Tony once found her he would never let her go, only because he loved her, because he desired her and had kept that desire in check, but because now, she knew too much. She was, in her own person, irrevocably committed to Tony. If he found her, if he demanded . . . at she marry him and she refused, she would have no peace. She could feel no safety. Tony was she now knew really ruthless, striking from the dark, concerned only with the dangerous, selfish laws he had made and with no other.

But in the person of Evelyn Howard, with Miss Smith dead, she was safe . . . for all time . . . from Tony and his armour, his suspicions and his demands.

She had been walking how long—? ten minutes—? twenty minutes—? half an hour—? when the rescue party found her. Farmers they were from the district circling the small town, the smoke of which she had seen. They came across the fields and through the underbrush, having left their cars on the country road. They carried stretchers, restoratives, bandages. A doctor was with them.

She heard their voices, she heard them crashing through a little thicket just ahead. She ran toward the blessed sound of human tones, human footsteps. She called. She sobbed, she beat her hands together.

The men came suddenly out into the clearing and Fanchon stumbled and fell, helplessly into the arms of the leader. "I must not faint," she thought and struggled violently back to life. "I can't faint now."

ANSWERS QUESTIONS

"It's a woman!" one said blankly, swearing with astonishment.

She said, choking . . .

And dead, but not . . . she pointed her hand shaking in the direction from which she had come.

The majority of the men went on, hurrying with their stretchers, their useless paraphernalia of mercy. Two stayed behind with Fanchon. She answered their questions as fully and as steadily as she could. She felt herself falling into darkness. One of them caught her as she fell.

When she recovered consciousness they were all there standing about her. She was lying on overcoats on the ground. Brandy was pungent on her lips. One an elderly man, was saying gently . . .

Miss Howard?"

"Dead," said Fanchon mechanically.

The elderly man took her hand in his own.

"No," he said, gravely, "you are not dead . . . by a merciful Providence . . . can you stand? . . . we will carry you back to the cars. You must let your people know at once that you are safe. I will attend to that arm of yours," he went on.

The cut was deep but needed no stitches. He bandaged it deftly after his hurried inspection. There were two younger men nearby. They carried a stretcher. Something lay on it. Fanchon's tweed coat thrown over it. Fanchon shivered, trembling deeply. She remembered Miss Howard. They had read the name on the handkerchief. If she had wished to she might have explained. She did not wish to. Her chin lifted, her heart beat rapidly.

SUPPLIES INFORMATION

"The others," said the doctor, "are gone. Instantly, I think. This young woman," he pointed to the stretcher, "is dying. We will get her right into the hospital, but I am afraid it is too late. Do you know her, Miss Howard?"

"No," said Fanchon, "just that she is a—Miss Smith."

She was carried, sitting on the clasped hands of two of the men. They reached the cars and the ambulance. Fanchon was put into a car and taken to the home of one of the farmers. There she was questioned again. She gave steadily, herself, the names of the pilot and of Mr. Eames. The name of the air company, which would be informed at once, which would inform the relatives of the dead. She said again Miss Smith . . . and added that as far as she knew, the other girl had no people to claim her. To claim the body.

She told you nothing of herself?" asked Doctor Warren.

"Just that she had no relatives and was going to New York to look for work. She had been working," said Fanchon, steadily, "in San Francisco and had saved for the—the trip. I think her home was in San Francisco. In some lodging house."

"I see. Poor girl," said the doctor.

She was, he added, still breathing. A transfusion had been arranged for at the hospital. But there was very little chance.

PRODUCES CARD

"Any!" breathed Fanchon. She hated herself . . . for fearing that the other girl might live. She marveled at the depths to which she had sunk, the lies to which she had committed herself.

"If she does not live," said the doctor gravely, "it would be better for her . . ."

"You mean!" whispered Fanchon, only half understanding.

He touched his head significantly.

And your people?" he asked her, "we must wire them immediately."

She opened Evelyn's bag. She took from it the card with Mrs. Carstairs' address on it. "My aunt," she said. "If you will wire to this name and address?" she asked . . . "and say I am safe and am coming on by train. When can I leave, Dr. Warren?"

"Do you feel strong enough to go alone?" he asked her. "Won't you wait until your people come for you?"

Fanchon shook her head. "No, I must," she said, "get home as quickly as I can."

"I understand. There is a train to New York tomorrow morning. You will stay here quietly with the Lawsons until then. They will see to everything," said the doctor.

Synopsis

While the newsboys shouted, "All about the big gang killing," Fanchon Meredith and a man named Tony planned their getaway. Tony gave Fanchon $4,000 and reserves passage for her under the name of "Miss Smith" on an airplane chartered by the wealthy Mr. Eames en route to New York. A fellow-passenger, whom she previously had met on the boat coming from Hawaii recognizes Fanchon. She is Evelyn Howard. Evelyn is going to live with the wealthy Mrs. Allison Carstairs, an aunt whom she has never seen. Fanchon envies Evelyn flying to happiness, while she is trying to escape because she was Tony's girl—Tony, who lied his way through life and whom she had innocently accepted on face value. Fanchon confides in Evelyn about her love for Tony. The police are searching for Fanchon, "The Mystery Woman." Fanchon asks Evelyn to enlist her aunt's aid in securing a position for her, but Evelyn becomes aloof. The plane crashes.

Commendable Work

Mrs. Pontefract Has Rendered a Service in Removing Political Posters Marring Boulevard.

Mrs. J. G. Pontefract, of Edgeworth, has done a courageous and a commendable thing in removing political posters which marred the beauty of the Ohio River boulevard.

Mrs. Pontefract possesses civic pride and an appreciation of civic beauty. She had a number of trees planted along the boulevard at her own expense to increase its attractiveness.

Consequently she had strong incentive to remove the offending signs; yet there was just as strong incentive for others to do the work, for Mrs. Pontefract found on consulting the American Civic Association that the posting of such bills on public property constitutes a public nuisance.

Are there not public officials whose duty it is to abate public nuisances? The State Highway Department has been very active in removing illegal signs which mar the scenery of the state highways. Why are county highways, like the Ohio River boulevard, not protected also by the county authorities and also by the authorities of the boroughs and townships through which they pass?

It reflects discredit on those responsible for the maintenance of the beauty of the highways that it has been left to a public-spirited woman to do their work.

In the apologies that some of the candidates are now beginning to offer for marring the rural landscapes and defacing city property with their signs Mrs. Pontefract and the citizens have assurance that she is fighting a winning battle.

Let others express, as the Edgeworth woman has so forcefully done, their disapproval of this uglification of highways and buildings with political posters and the candidates will cease to offend.

Another School Delay

Strike Again Calls Attention to Need of Making Agreement Before Construction Starts.

Work on new school buildings has again been held up by a strike. This has occurred repeatedly in recent years.

It is electrical workers who have been called out in the present case. They have been withdrawn from 14 construction jobs, including the Lincoln, Prospect, Knox, Larimer, Mifflin and Latimer schools.

These strikes are often due to technical questions of jurisdiction or to disputes over matters that are hard for the layman to understand, but which, whatever they may be, scarcely justify interference with public work.

The Sun-Telegraph has suggested, and again suggests, in view of these many strikes, that before construction of a new building starts the contractors and workers get together and reach an agreement on these matters that so frequently cause bickering and delay.

Let the dispute be anticipated and settled in advance.

A Mistake Nevertheless

Though He Lives, Mike Busko Was Unwise to Refuse To Take the Pasteur Treatment.

But soon a wonder came to light
That showed the rogues they lied:
The man recovered of the bite.
The dog it was that died.
—Oliver Goldsmith.

Mike Busko, of East Carson street, should appreciate the elegy on the death of a mad dog, in "The Vicar of Wakefield," for it fits his case.

Busko was bitten by a dog a year ago, and scientific examination of the animal disclosed it had rabies. Physicians urged Busko to take the Pasteur treatment, saying they wouldn't give two cents for his chances of recovery if he refused. But he refused nevertheless, and has suffered no untoward effects.

This proves nothing except that it is possible to be bitten by a mad dog and still escape rabies.

Busko was unwise nevertheless to refuse to take the Pasteur treatment. He would have been unwise if there had been only a very remote chance of his catching the disease.

Read in "The Story of San Michele" of the sufferings of the Russian moujiks who were bitten by a rabid wolf, and were sent to the Pasteur Institute at Paris at the Czar's expense, and you will probably agree.

Pinchot Bans Politics

The Governor Calls for Fair Play in the Employment of Laborers on State Highways.

Gov. Pinchot's old ideals of justice and decency are again displayed in his letter to Samuel S. Lewis, secretary of highways, in regard to the employment of laborers on the state roads.

Men are to be given jobs, the Governor writes, regardless of their political affiliations. They are not to be asked if they are Republicans or Democrats; they are not to be required to have the indorsement of ward chairmen or other politicians.

The things to be considered are the need of their families and their ability to do the work. The neediest cases—the men with the largest families dependent on them—are to receive first consideration.

This is as it should be.

The same principles should be applied to the employment of laborers on the public works of Pittsburgh and Allegheny County.

A Part of the County

The District Attorney Is Expected to Investigate Pittsburgh's Crimes, Too.

Co-operation between city and county detectives is promised in the investigation of the racket murder of Morris Curran. It is high time.

Many of Pittsburgh's murders, holdups and bomb outrages go unpunished because of the lack of such co-operation.

District Attorney Park and some of his predecessors have acted at times as if Pittsburgh were not a part of the county, as if Pittsburgh's crimes were none of their concern, and as if they should not be expected to investigate them.

Their position has been that it was up to the city police to do the investigating, and that if the city police failed the District Attorney and the county detectives attached to his office could not be held responsible for doing nothing.

It is to be hoped the promise of a co operative investigation by the two forces of the Curran murder marks the beginning of a new policy.

The Keeper of the Gates

(Copyright, 1931.)

What is the matter with the Administration at Washington?

Six million unemployed walk our streets in search of jobs.

But, instead of using Federal aid to put them at work on essential public improvements, the Administration calls conferences, sends missions abroad to study conditions overseas, appoints commissions—does everything except start some public works that will PUT MEN TO WORK.

We have money for China, India, Ireland, Cuba, Italy, France, Germany and other countries; we are much concerned over the protecting of international loans due from Germany; but what of our own flesh and blood at home?

Shouldn't the needy in America come first?

The Administration heeds the cry of distress from foreign lands and is DEAF TO APPEALS FOR HELP FROM OUR OWN PEOPLE.

Let the President summon Congress in special session PROMPTLY, to pass the FIVE BILLION DOLLAR PROSPERITY LOAN proposed by William Randolph Hearst. Spend it for needed public improvements on a gigantic scale. That would provide jobs for the jobless. The depression would soon be over, when American labor, SPURNING DOLES AND CHARITY, has work and is enabled to buy the necessities of life for self and family.

The Gleam Alone

The friends whom I most love
Are like the stars to me,
As those far bodies move
Among immensity.
The stars are worlds, we know,
And worlds hold joy and pain,
Hold ecstasy and woe
And purity and stain.
But of those worlds afar
We see the gleam alone;
The glory of the star
That on our path has shone.
And so in friends most dear
I see no fault, no blight,
But only joyous bloom
And opulence of light!

ENGLAND DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

LONDON, Aug. 19.—London comes to life with a quick gush at 9 in the morning. Five minutes before it is gray and solitary and then as by a mechanical timing springs into action. Railway termini become a human vomitoria. London Bridge flows with crowds. Pavements are packed. The city boils.

Everyone not "on the dole" is suburb conscious, although the term "suburb" is anathema. A Londoner refers to his "little place in Surrey" or "comes up from Kent." The city is the place to work but for sleeping he prefers those rural spots eternally threatened with better train service.

The "work trains," featuring cheaper fare, arrive in London at 8 a. m. and carry most of the stenographers and office workers but they remain in the stations to read or breakfast and emerge with the 9 o'clock crowds. Everybody walks from stations. Real business begins at 10.

After watching London going to work I turned off from pulsating Piccadilly into that somber Eden of celibacy known as "Albany." It is a court—a sui generis where only bachelors are permitted. No woman ever lodged here since 1804.

When a man takes such lodgings it is tantamount to telling the world he is to remain single the rest of his life. In earlier days it was a literary haven. Lord Byron once dwelt at No. 2. Bulwer Lytton later moved into the same quarters and Macauly wrote his History in No. 1.

I like to eat at the A. B. C. and Lyons' restaurants. Particularly because of the chance to rub elbows with the crowds and eavesdrop. They suggest our Childs before they went "arty." And the waitresses are gloriously snobbish, eyeing you with fishlike coldness as you give your order.

At noon in a Lyon's, beaming like one of those Good Will Ambassadors at an Atlantic City convention, I asked a pale blonde if they served Cornish patties. She flounced off like a wet hen returned to place one before me, shrugged and walked away. I tried to work up nerve to ask for a glass of milk but couldn't make it.

In London one hears the Irish Free State is a smacking success. In England the Crown taxes about $1.10 on every pound but in Ireland it amounts to a shade less than 75 cents. Ireland's unemployment problem, compared to Britain's, is infinitesimal and the Emerald Isle draws huge crowds of visitors who used to spend all their time in London.

Piccadilly Circus and environs after night are filled with damozels who wink, look back and wait. It is remindful of those loose-living days when street roaming centered around the Haymarket. There seems to be an extraordinarily large number of ladies of the dusk who are black haired and black eyed Russian women. Too, like ghosts of old London, hansom cabs stand at curbs after midnight and Cockney jehus from perches inquire, after looking about with a pseudo air of mystery: "See a bit of the seamy side, Guvner? Hop right in!"

In strange cities my yokelism invariably leaps to the fore. I am curiously aroused by sinister inuendoes of underworld guides and should I follow personal inclinations would engage them. It is not so much what they have to show. I have been around a little, thanks. Three Sunday excursions in a row last summer—but their mental outlook on life interests. When human beings reach such a stratum of degradation I have an eagerness to know what routes they took to arrive there. I have always believed it is mere or less accidental destiny that many, who are not, did not become underworld guides.

It may lift the Broadway eyebrow to hear the jovial haw-de-ho and hay-de-hay Sophie Tucker and her booming voice are somewhat a London rage, but it is true. Nor is it press agent imaginings her invitation lists include bids to Pall Mall, Belgravia and fashionable Mayfair. She is bantering dukes, lords and duchesses with the same careless frivolity she wise cracked with stayouts at old Reisenweber's.

At tea after an archery party—you'd die at my arching—this afternoon, various guests were speaking of their summer homes—Brownley Towers-on-Avon, Wappingham-by-Kent, Cranley-near-Brighton, etc. I was loaded to tell them mine was New York-across-from-Hoboken if anyone asked. But no one did.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Petticoats are back.

So are pinched-in corsets, spike-heeled sandals, trailing chiffons, sashes, ringlets, blushes, lisps and all the other high-powered accessories of the Clinging Vine.

And the Big Boys are giving complacent grunts. The Dear Little Woman has come to her senses again. Stopped aping men, thank God. Decided to be her own sweet modest, helpless self. How delightful! Also, how surprising!

But it really isn't surprising at all. For petticoats are a racket—the most profitable racket in the feminine bag of tricks. And the Dear Little Woman never had the slightest notion of relinquishing them permanently.

Practically, of course, nothing could be sillier than a trailing, swishing petticoat in 1931. Nor, to a sociologist, more maddening and disgusting. For the last 50 years women have been raising no end of a fuss about their Rights. Insisting they were as Good as Men. Whimpering around because men kept them Shackled. Going into Pouts, Tantrums, and Good Hard Cries because men thought their place was in the home. Until at last they wore everyone out and got their own way. Got suffrage. Got jobs. Got co-education. Got one-piece bathing suits, heelless shoes, sport clothes, bobbed hair, athletic medals, professional degrees.

"Didn't we tell you?" crowed the ladies. "Didn't we tell you we could be regular if you men would let us? Lookit us now!"

The men looked. They did not like what they saw but they had to admit that the ladies had proved their point. They were regular. They were—horrible thought!—perhaps a shade more regular than men! With those shaved necks and fighting jaws they could and, unless forcibly prevented, did outsmart papa in anything they tackled. Gone, alas, were the good old days when a man was a man and a woman was a whatnot. How, I ask you, could Males prove they were the Stronger Sex if females wouldn't play pretty and act the Weaker? Where was justice if any little 90-pound chit of a woman could make a big 200-pound gent look and act like a trained flea? Oh, for the Sweet Old-Fashioned Girl!

But the Big Boys might have saved their tears. For the Sweet Old-Fashioned Girl was right there, all the time, and as ready as ever to swoon her stuff.

Equal rights, economic independence, sensible dressing, she had wanted these things only as long as they seemed denied her. But she was much, MUCH too smart to want them for keeps. For well did the Little Woman know that the role of Clinging Vine is the softest racket on earth.

Is there anything that makes a man feel as grand or act as generous as being a Sturdy Oak to some Broken Blossom? No, there isn't.

Then why should a girl hustle for her own three squares when, by looking helpless and acting feeble-minded, she can make some moron male hustle for her? Why, indeed!

But, on the other hand, how can a girl look helpless when she's dressed like a prize-fighter, tanned like a stevedore, and swings a line like a city editor? She can't.

But just wait a minute! Presto—almost over-night— the Rambunctious Mode went out and the Romantic Mode came in. Back behind the ears went the hair, underneath the ruffles went the ankles, cheeks paled, spines drooped, eyes assumed the pristine innocent star of the well-known china egg. Before the boys had come out of their hiccoughs, the girls had gone garbo and ga-ga. With what result? With the result that any femme with a languid lop and a baby bleat can have her pick of all the males in sight.

Petticoats back? I'll say they're back! And once more, girls, we're getting by with murder.

Isn't It So?

Doing as you please seldom pleases others.

Not every crank is a reformer, but most reformers are cranks.

A good wife maketh a good husband; the bad ones are self-made.

It takes two to make a quarrel, although the third one generally starts it.

The shortest distances between two points is that between the dining room and the garage.

It's About Time That We Stopped Fooling Ourselves

By BRIG. GEN. HENRY J. REILLY, O. R. C.

AFTER two months' negotiations, protocols just signed in London have finally put the Hoover debt moratorium plan in practical working shape until next July.

This delay, which is blamed for robbing the moratorium of its expected beneficial effect on business, was due to our effort to PUT THE CART BEFORE THE HORSE in international affairs.

The horse in European international affairs consists of the politico military policies of the various nations. In other words it consists of the national policies of each considered so essential to national welfare that the nation concerned will rather than give them up, use its armed forces, that is, GO TO WAR.

The cart, very much under control of the horse, consists of business, including financial, affairs and peace.

We must learn and face this fact of the world as it is today unless we wish to become involved in European international politico-military questions.

We must STOP FOOLING OURSELVES with the belief that our finances and pacifist example and desires are strong enough to dominate these questions and to prevent the WAR TO WHICH SOONER OR LATER THEY ALWAYS LEAD.

This is all the more necessary as the Hoover debt moratorium settled NOTHING. It merely postponed until next July the dangerous question of how far Germany is able and willing to live up to the terms of the Versailles Peace Treaty.

The first world disarmament conference is due to meet at Geneva next February. If it does this dangerous question will come up just that much sooner.

The fact that the great war came as a surprise to us in 1914 should have taught us the lesson that in Europe politico-military questions dominate. The few in this country who realized this dominance saw the war coming. The majority who put the power of current international finance and various peace movements in first place were greatly and disagreeably surprised.

THE Versailles Peace Conference should have rubbed the fact indelibly into our consciousness. Our President, with other American delegates, participated and helped to make the Versailles Treaty which has been the basis ever since the European politico-military situation.

Prof. E. R. Turner, the well known historian of Johns Hopkins University, described the conditions existing during the conference as follows:

"At the opposite extremes were President Wilson and Premier Clemenceau. The American statesman seems to have been without great knowledge of European statesmanship and conditions and often hampered by insufficient information. The aged French premier was wise with the wisdom of long experience and service."

He does not criticize the motives actuating these two statesmen. He does, however, compare their respective capabilities to handle practically a serious international political situation.

The negotiations and outcome of the debt and reparations moratorium everywhere show us still to be "without great knowledge of European statesmanship and conditions," and still "hampered by insufficient information."

"WITHOUT GREAT KNOWLEDGE OF EUROPEAN STATESMANSHIP" we intended to put through an international debt and moratorium, using our financial power as a club to force compliance with our wishes regardless of the politico military situation established by the Versailles Treaty.

"HAMPERED BY INSUFFICIENT INFORMATION" we tried to force France and the lesser powers similarly placed into giving up "rights" granted them by this treaty, though they have repeatedly shown they would use force first.

Failing in that we tried to get Germany to make further concessions, though all threats of revolution and war from that country have been based on German insistence that the terms of the treaty are too drastic to be borne peacefully.

Finally we have now come to the terms which "knowledge of European statesmanship" and sufficient "information" would have made us propose in the first place.

We want trade and financial business with Europe.

We do not want their political quarrels, which our ancestors came to this country to get away from, transported to our shores.

We do not want to fight in the wars which these quarrels inevitably cause.

THEREFORE WE MUST STOP TRYING TO DICTATE THE COURSE OF EUROPEAN POLITICO MILITARY AFFAIRS.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

Change the family routine occasionally.

Parents can vary the every day programs and children should be afforded new experience and new scenes.

Many a marital wreck is due to the unvarying monotony of living.

Children become restless, parents dissatisfied and irritable when day after day is the same.

Wives complain that men want to go on hunting and fishing trips.

Husbands complain because the wife wants to visit relatives or friends in a distant city.

Parents often object when children want to go to summer camps and have those of their own age as companions.

It is the desire for change and variety and, if possible, should be understood and gratified before it becomes an obsession.

Often members of one family stick too closely together—too little individual freedom till all are bored with the humdrum of life.

Sometimes it is one member of the family that bears the brunt of monotony but whether it is one or all that hew to the line of routine, it is not wise in the long run.
